Jet Tanker Crash Kills 30 In Wichita

Wichita's Morning Of Horror

Here is a graphic account of what the Rev. Mr. J. H. Mason, associate pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, found at the scene where an Air Force plane crashed in a residential district Saturday morning.

By THE REV. J. H. MASON
Written for The Associated Press

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — This has been a morning of horror. People were shocked. Some were crying.

Just as I got to the scene, I saw a man running out of a house.

"Oh, my God, my boys are in there," he said. "Oh, my God, have mercy."

I tried to comfort him and asked him how many were in the house. He said there were two boys. Later I was told his name was Joe Martin.

As I looked at the house, a boy ran from it. He was in flames. He fell in front of the house with both his arms up in the air. It happened just as the fire department was pulling up.

Later I was told the other Martin boy was found dead in the backyard of the home.

All around us was scattered wood, some burning. Two houses south of the Martin home, I helped a woman put out a fire around her new car.

I saw eight houses on fire at one time. People were milling around. Some were barefooted, having been asleep when the crash came. One little boy said he was thrown out of bed.

Many of the people said their tables were shaken. One man 10 blocks away said it shook the coffee around on the table and he thought it was an earthquake.

Plane Wing At Door
Windows were broken in many houses that escaped the fire. One man came out of his house and said the first thing he saw was a wing of the plane at the door.

I stopped at the home of a minister, the Rev. U. W. Barron. His wife had gone to the store while he was working on his Sunday sermon. If she had come home a few minutes earlier she would have been in the path of the plane.

Debris was scattered over the neighborhood. Bits of wreckage broke windows, gouged roofs and ripped siding away from homes three and four blocks away. Nothing but the foundations remained of four small houses in the center of the crash area.

Two aircraft engines remained almost intact, about 75 feet apart. About 150 feet away lay a segment of aircraft wing, perhaps 25 feet long. Nearby was wreckage of the tail boom which is used in refueling operations.

Robert Barker, 18, came through without a scratch although wreckage struck the front of his home.

"I was sitting in the den in the front of the house when I heard a rumble. I looked out the window and saw this silver streak hit the street. It burst into flames and the fire engulfed all of the houses across the street. Part of the plane hit our nose."

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert telephoned from Washington with his profound regrets over the tragedy. He offered all possible Air Force assistance to the city.

Lt. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 2nd Air Force, flew to Wichita from Barksdale Field, La., to head a team of Air Force officers investigating the crash.

The KC135 is a four-jet tanker which flies more than 600 miles an hour. It has a 130-foot wing span, is 136 feet long and 38 feet high. It can carry 31,000 gallons of jet fuel and fully loaded is 297,000 pounds. It has a 4,000 mile range. It is the military counterpart to the Boeing 707.

Explodes In Block Of Homes

By JOE MCKNIGHT

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — An Air Force jet tanker plane, in trouble and apparently trying to return to base, fell into a residential area Saturday, killing at least 30 persons.

At least 17 persons were injured and scores of persons were left homeless.

Fourteen homes were wiped out in the devastating crash, explosion and fire that spread from the plane. At least 30 other houses were damaged.

The bodies of 23 civilians were taken to a temporary morgue set up in the auditorium of the City-County Health Department. The bodies of six Air Force personnel were taken elsewhere by military authorities.

The Air Force identified the seven men on the plane. None survived.

Center of the crash was near the intersection of 20th St. and Platt Avenue, six blocks from Wichita State University in northeast Wichita. The area is a predominantly Negro neighborhood with houses in the $10,000 class.

The plane took off from McConnell Air Force Base, six miles south of the crash scene, three minutes before it fell. It was on a test mission with a B52 bomber.

Discharges Fuel
Col. Tom Murphy, director of safety for the 2nd Air Force, said the tanker started dumping fuel over the university and made a turn of almost 180 degrees. It struck the ground while in the turn.

Murphy said members of the plane crew blew open an escape hatch just below the nose of the plane before it crashed.

Officers from McConnell said a radio operator there heard only the word "May Day" — a distress signal — before the crash.

Dr. Robert Daniels, coroner, who reported the number of dead, said the bodies of only five of the civilians were intact enough for visual identification.

The Stratotanker was based at Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base, Okla.

A county sheriff's officer, Gilbert Roman, who witnessed the crash, said he saw a metallic fragment fall from its tail just before the tanker crashed into the ground.

Roman said another plane with military markings appeared to be following it, but there was no indication of a collision.

Another witness, Keith Sanborn, Sedgewick County attorney, said the plane appeared to be making a normal left turn and what appeared to be fuel was streaming out of the back of the plane.

"It looked like any other plane making a turn until it started losing altitude and then it appeared to be going straight down."

When firemen arrived they said they found at least 15 homes afire, and it looked as if a couple of blocks might be lost.

Elmer Ellis, who was in his home a block away, said the crash sounded like an earthquake. There followed a series of small explosions which witnesses said resembled the firing of small arms ammunition.

Federal, state and local authorities set up command posts to organize recovery work. Included were Gov. William H. Avery, Mayor Vincent L. Bogart, Lt. Gen. David Wade of the 2nd Air Force, Tom Irvin, Red Cross manager, and Dr. Robert Daniels, county coroner.

Daniels set up a morgue in the County Health Department building, and said efforts would be made to have relatives identify the victims. He said that five bodies were identifiable.

"We'll need pathological tests to identify the others," he added.

Wade said funds would be made available through the military command post to handle emergency needs of the displaced persons.

The devastation and pathos was hard for the mind to grasp, even when you looked at it.

Leighly's reference to a possible early strike was to the dispute between the carriers and three AFL-CIO shop unions — machinists, electrical workers and sheet metal workers — which has been in state of stalemate since early last month.

Senators available for comment generally opposed the nationalization idea but some agreed with the idea that the railroads are not meeting their obligations in serving the public.

The federal government operated the railroads in World War I but did not take title to them. After the war, operating control reverted to private hands and in 1920 the unions adopted the non-nationalization position which it held until Saturday.

Urge Federal Rails Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail labor union chiefs urged Saturday that the government buy and operate the country's railroads. A management spokesman called the proposal a pressure tactic by frustrated men.

G.E. Leighly, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, announced the group's decision, which came as a reversal of a 45-year-old union policy of opposition to nationalization of the carriers.

Leighly told a news conference also that "we are quite close to settling a strike date" in a lingering dispute between the railroads and a group of non-union workers.

Leighly said a majority of the chiefs of the 22 unions making up the Railway Labor Executives' Association reached a unanimous decision for government ownership at a Washington meeting Friday after a week's discussion.

This will be formally adopted by the whole association at a Feb. 22 meeting in Miami when specific legislative proposals are to be drawn, Leighly added.

The general basis for the association's decision, Leighly said, is that "Present management of the railroad industry no longer has sufficient concern for the interests and needs of the general public to be entrusted with the stewardship of the most fundamental and most essential part of our nation's transportation system."

More specific reasons, Leighly said, are:

"1. The failure of the railroads to give adequate service, reflected in the 'progressive elimination' of passenger trains and the failure of the carriers to provide adequate equipment and service for freight shipments."

"2. The persistent refusal by rail management to join with railroad labor to establish adequate safety measures for the protection of both passengers and workers."

"3. The 'chaos' in the industry's labor relations."

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief spokesman for management, said in a statement:

"The labor union spokesmen have let their frustration get the better of their common sense. The men they represent would be hardest hit by nationalization. Furthermore, they are completely out of step with public sentiment which, in a recent nationwide opinion poll rejected nationalization by a 9-1 vote."

"I think the public will recognize this nationalization proposal as a pressure tactic by the unions. If the unions were successful in their demands for the recall of thousands of unnecessary employees the railroads could not survive."

The unions' proposal brought no immediate reaction from the White House.

Senators available for comment generally opposed the nationalization idea but some agreed with the idea that the railroads are not meeting their obligations in serving the public.

CHURCHILL'S PHYSICIAN—Sir Winston Churchill's physician, Lord Moran, reads the aged statesman's health bulletin outside Sir Winston's Hyde Park Gate home the morning he was stricken. Churchill Lingers On

Weakens In Fight For Life

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill drifted in and out of consciousness Saturday night, clinging feebly to life after a stroke cut him down.

The 90-year-old warrior-statesman was putting up a terrific fight for his life, but there seemed faint hope that he could survive.

"He's very peaceful," said a relative. "He's conscious, or partly so and doesn't realize he's very ill. He's comfortable."

A British Medical Association spokesman said this semicomatose condition was typical of the illness.

He said Churchill could linger on in this half-world for a week or 10 days. But he held out little hope that a man of Churchill's age could survive.

A bulletin Friday night said Churchill was slipping peacefully and painlessly into deeper sleep.

The relative — Mrs. Anthony Henley, a cousin of Lady Churchill — spoke after visiting Churchill. It was the first news from the bedside since a mid-morning bulletin said:

"Spent Peaceful Night
"Sir Winston had a peaceful night, there is no material change in his condition."

Mrs. Henley has been constantly at her cousin's side since Sir Winston was struck down Friday. She, Lady Churchill and Sir Winston's two daughters, Mary and Sarah, went driving Saturday afternoon.

It was the first time Lady Churchill had left the red brick London house at 28 Hyde Park Gate since Sir Winston's illness. A member of the household said she needed a breath of fresh air.

The morning medical bulletin was signed by Lord Moran, 82, Churchill's personal physician who has steered his friend through other serious illnesses.

Churchill was stricken Friday by a cerebral thrombosis — a clot on the brain — and developed circulatory trouble.

The first sign that the old warrior was not well came when it was announced that he had a cold. Then came medical bulletins telling a graver story of a brain clot.

Commenting on these bulletins, a British Medical Association spokesman said:

"In a man of his age it is a grave illness. In a younger man, perhaps, the chance of recovery might be greater.
"In spite of the fact that he has been very robust and borne his illnesses in a terrific way, at the age of 90 this condition must be regarded as a grave one."

Viet Nam Can Be Won—Lodge

Marooned While Wife, 5 Children Die 6 Miles Away

MIXERSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A radio executive was marooned by a severe snowstorm as his home only six miles away burned to the ground Saturday, killing his wife and five of their eight children.

Firemen from nearby communities were prevented from reaching the scene in time to offer any help because of drifts almost shoulder-high in some places.

The radio executive, Harold F. Parshall, 34, vice president of station WOXR in Oxford, Ohio, also could not reach his home after learning of the fire.

The victims were his wife, Joann, 34, and their children, Judy, 11; Patty, 9; Karen, 8; Cynthia, 6; and Donald, 3.

A daughter, Debbie, 13, escaped by climbing out onto a porch roof. She had first awakened other members of the family, but was driven back by flames when she tried to help.

Parshall and a son, Ronald, 11, had stayed in Oxford on Friday night because the roads were too bad to drive home. Another son, Harold G., 16, lives in Hamilton, Ohio, with his grandmother.

The father was attempting to get to Hamilton, friends said.

"We couldn't get fire equipment out there at all," said Oxford Fire Chief Kent Shoemaker. "It was terrible. The drifts were so bad."

Military Standoff Springboard

By MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The struggle in South Viet Nam can be won, Henry Cabot Lodge said Saturday, and the current military standoff "is building the springboard for victory."

Strongly opposing a negotiated settlement, Lodge said terms laid down by North Viet Nam are "specifications for surrender."

Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1960, was U.S. ambassador to Saigon from August 1963 until last June, under appointment by the late Democratic President John F. Kennedy. He is also a former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and was a senator from Massachusetts.

He gave his views in replies to questions submitted by The Associated Press.

"If Viet Nam falls to the Communists," Lodge said, "it would shatter confidence all around the world in America's ability to carry out a vitally important commitment."

U.S. Victory — Power Factor
But a U.S. victory would be a "power factor" which could start the world on a new and more hopeful course, he held.

He said, however, that "in order to achieve a victory, there must be within Viet Nam the same degree of civil-political success as there is military success."

"Our present success is bringing about a deadlock commands quiet respect throughout the free world precisely because it is preventing the disaster of a Communist takeover and is building the springboard for victory."

Following are the questions submitted to Lodge and his answers:

Q. Hanoi (Communist North Viet Nam) has repeatedly laid down terms for ending the Viet Nam conflict. These include departure of all U.S. personnel and letting the people settle Viet Nam's internal affairs.

In view of those terms, what would be the prospects for a negotiated settlement? For neutralization? In your opinion, is there a possibility that guarantees of any settlement, including neutralization, could be ironclad?

Would you regard any negotiation — say within the 14-nation conference at Geneva — as a form of surrender, or are there circumstances under which the United States would be well advised to negotiate with Peking (Communist China) and Hanoi on ending the conflict?

A. What you refer to as "terms" are not really terms at all; they are specifications for surrender. South Viet Nam is not strong enough to be truly neutral and is not now strong enough to go to a conference at which true terms could be negotiated.

As regards what you call "neutralization," both North and South Viet Nam are "neutralized" already insofar as words are concerned.

Article 10 of the Geneva accord of July 21, 1954 in effect provided for "neutralizing" both countries. Yet the terms of this agreement were violated before the ink was even dry. We do not need new language for "neutralization."

British Bolster Malaysian Borneo Against Buildup

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — British transports flew another detachment of Gurkha troops into Malaysian Borneo Saturday amid reports that Indonesia is reinforcing troops on its side of the border.

British intelligence sources said there were indications the Indonesians were building their force on the western end of the border with Malaysia to about 3,000 men.

They said the arrival of the Gurkhas — tough mountain people from Nepal — boosted the strength of the Malaysian defenders to about that number.

Two more plane loads of Gurkhas are due in Kuching within the next two days.

The newly arrived Gurkhas were taken immediately into the jungles toward the western border with Indonesia.

Most Malaysian troops are at the eastern end of the 900-mile frontier.

10,000 Jungle Fighters
The 10,000 British, Gurkha and Malaysian soldiers in North Borneo are jungle fighters who have been through eight weeks of jungle training in Malaya.

The British believe that if the Indonesians cross the border the British will be able to use helicopters to airlift small parties to areas from which they would move into the jungle and press the Indonesians from all sides.

Patrols and forward gun emplacements are supplied partly by helicopter but mostly by parachute drops from airplanes.

These planes are operating in the western area, dropping food and ammunition, including howitzer shells, at the rate of a half a million pounds in weight a month.

"We drop them everything but water," said one officer. "Even live goats and live chickens for the Gurkhas to slaughter. They have plenty of water." At this time of the year rain falls every day, one or two inches a day mostly.

In Indonesia, President Sukarno told a cornerstone-laying ceremony for a Soviet-supplied atomic reactor that Indonesia wants peace and will not fight unless attacked. This reiterated what he said in a news conference at Jakarta Thursday.

Arrest Meridian Indicted

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — U.S. marshals Saturday arrested 16 white men charged by the Justice Department with a Ku Klux Klan-inspired plot that snuffed out the lives of three civil rights workers last summer.

Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, and his deputy, Cecil Price, 26, were among those taken into custody at Philadelphia, Miss., as the season's first snow fell on the tense east-central Mississippi town.

A fiery segregationist Baptist preacher, a high school dropout, several truck drivers and gas station attendants also were picked up. The arrests started a two-pronged attempt by the government to prosecute the men accused of a conspiracy that brought death to two white and one Negro civil rights workers.

Beardstown Men Get Jail Terms

Two Beardstown men have been sentenced to 1-4 year terms at Menard penitentiary for separate offenses. Both were arrested in connection with burglary charges.

Pleads Guilty

Dale Hitz, 29, of this city, has been sentenced to 1 to 4 years in the state penitentiary at Menard on his plea of guilty to burglary.

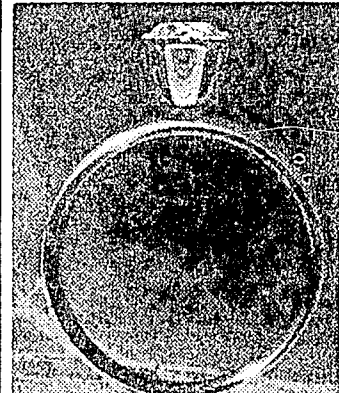

Hitz waived trial by jury and entered a guilty plea before Judge Maurice E. Barnes in circuit court in Virginia. He was charged by State's attorney Walter Farrand for the burglary of the Mallard Inn Dec. 7.

Probation Revoked

Associate Judge Fred W. Reither Thursday sentenced Terry Bauser, 20, of this city to 1 to 4 years in the state prison at Menard. Judge Reither revoked Bauser's probation and pronounced sentence after Bauser was charged as an accessory in a burglary of the Arenzville township building.

Milton McClure of this city was Bauser's court-appointed attorney and State's Attorney Walter Farrand represented the people.

PARTY HONORS GREENE WOMAN'S 82nd BIRTHDAY

ROODHOUSE — Miss Effie Edwards was honored on her 82nd birthday anniversary at a party held at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Edwards, city, on Tuesday afternoon. Also present were another brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Edwards, of this city, and Avery Edwards, Granite City. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the wives of the brothers.

Miss Edwards was employed for many years at the Roodhouse Record office and at the time of her retirement was employed at the local locker plant.

Roodhouse Notes
Mrs. Walter Ricks, a patient at the Springfield Memorial hospital, Springfield, is reported to be much improved and is expected to arrive home this week.

Howard Hensley was taken to the Holy Cross hospital, Jacksonville, Tuesday, suffering with pneumonia. He is reported to be some improved.

Mrs. Otis Pierson, Quincy, has moved here and is located in the Martin Apartment house on Clay street. Mrs. Pierson resided here some years ago.

Complete cleansing is vital to a young woman's skin health. A skin freshener with pH control helps return the acid/alkaline balance necessary to protect against moisture loss and dryness.

READY FOR ACTION — CHICAGO — Chicago Patrolman Richard Nelson puts "Zing" his crime fighting partner, and one of Chicago Police Dept.'s Canine Corps "top dogs" through his paces here Wednesday. Nelson and "Zing" received publicity recently when they captured two men stalking a young couple in a city park. Nelson and "Zing" made 118 arrests last year. Department's 50 man-dog teams made 2,000 arrests in 1964.

Metropolitan Tenor Is Heard At Merner Chapel

By Joseph C. Cleeland

Those who struggled against the rigors of the weather Friday night were more than fully repaid in attending the concert by Leopold Simoneau, the Metropolitan Opera Lyric Tenor.

Assisted by Allen Rogers, a really splendid pianist this combination of artists made everything seem worthwhile in the area of listening. This reviewer found himself giving assent to nearly all that went on in the program. Beauty of tone, sincerity of expression, communication that was repaid by the response of the audience made for a program that will not be easy to forget.

In the Annie Merner Chapel the voice sounded like it had been designed for the building. In fact, it was such a stimulating evening that I would be so rash as to advise the next snowstorm to be a signal for attending whatever might be scheduled — you might forget your anxieties.

The program began with four songs by Josef Haydn—songs that were written when he was in England. These cannot be compared with Schubert as the work of a genius song writer, but they have a vigor and openness of expression that tends to wake an audience up to the fact that something is going to happen that will be of real interest to those in the listening audience. The setting of the Shakespeare poem, "She Never Told her Love" reminds one of a very short operatic aria in its extensive Prelude. Mr. Simoneau sang this song with beauty of tone and evidence of insight, developing an almost miraculous atmosphere of sound and feeling.

Schubert was represented by four songs, three which came from the beautiful Song Cycle of the young miller in love with the miller's daughter. This is superb song writing. In these songs one feels the compulsion of an intense desire to express oneself in a medium that was natural for the composer. The outcome is beauty of tone, elevation of the spirit and everybody should come away happier because of these songs.

Mr. Simoneau is known all over the musical world as "Mr. Mozart" and he fully justified this title by his singing of the aria from Mozart's "Don Giovanni." This aria "Il mio tesoro" is often regarded as the supreme test of classic songs for tenors. Sung by lyric tenors with a lack of color would do a lot to kill a song with this innate beauty. But Mr. Simoneau left no doubt in the mind of the listener that his voice is made up of real stuff. The lyrical passage were stunning and the vigorous passages were never forced but expressed a golden timbre that you have to hear to believe.

Allen Rogers provided another high point in the joy of the evening by his sensitive and musical playing of the Brahms Waltzes, from Op. 39. Mr. Rogers who is a mighty fine pianist seemed to enjoy playing for the audience and the audience certainly showed every evidence of enjoying what he was doing.

The songs by Duparc and Saint-Saens were certainly an indication of the great ability that Mr. Simoneau has as an interpreter. I have never heard more beautiful singing and playing than came off with the interpretation of the song "Extase." The listener was never made aware of conscious control of the technique by the artists in this beautiful song. The essence of the song itself came constantly to mind, and this is as it should be with all art expression. The "Dance macabre" by Saint-Saens was performed with great effectiveness.

The final group of songs was made up of American and British composers. The song by Samuel Barber "Sure on This Shining Night" is a very fine work by the talented American composer, but it is very hard to sing. Mr. Simoneau got away with it in good shape.

After the printed program was completed Mr. Simoneau did the "Dream Song" from "Manon" with the kind of artistry that one only associates with the "Golden Age of Singing." People who heard these two artists Friday night can have gratitude in their hearts for having heard them, as well as a more than adequate reward for having struggled against the elements.

Youngest Potentate In Shrine History

William R. Schnirring Jr., 500. AF & AM; Springfield Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Springfield Council No. 2, R. & S. M.; Elwood Commandery No. 6, Knights Templar (Past Commander); St. Edward Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine; Lily of the Valley Tabernacle, Holy Royal Arch Knight Templar Priests; Past Most Wise Master, Springfield Chapter of Rose Croix; Honorary Member Supreme Council 33rd Degree; presently a member of the Finance Committee and Degree Director of the Springfield Consistory; Springfield Court No. 20, Royal Order of Jesters; A B Lincoln Chapter, High Twelve International (Past President).

Schnirring becomes, at 35, the second youngest Ansar Potentate in the history of the Shrine. Following installation, Schnirring's first official act as Potentate was the naming of Charles E. Bostick as Outer Guard on his Divan.

Bostick, 51, a 33rd degree Scottish Rite Mason, is a member of the Patrol Association, Legion of Honor, a member of Ansar's Ceremonial Cast, of which he is past Director, and is currently serving as Deputy Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of the State of Illinois.

Ansar's new Potentate, who will serve throughout 1965, is a life-long resident of Springfield. Born in 1929, Schnirring was educated in Springfield grade and high schools, and is a Business Administration graduate of the University of Illinois at Urbana, Class of 1950. He is a past President of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Schnirring's military tour of duty as a First Lt., U.S. Army, took him to the Thule Air Force Base, Greenland, during the Korean conflict in 1951-1952.

On the Springfield business scene, Ansar's new Potentate is one of the area's most energetic boosters. He is General Manager and Secretary-Treasurer of the Springfield Electrical Supply Corporation, 918 East Enos, wholesale distributors, with branch facilities in Bloomington and Urbana. Schnirring currently serves as area Chairman, National Association of Electrical Distributors.

He is a past Director of the American Business Club, member of the Board of Directors of Memorial Hospital, member of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Springfield Lodge 158, Elk's Club, Illini Country Club and Sangamo Club.

In 1962, Schnirring was a runner-up for the "outstanding young man of the year" award of the Springfield Jr. Chamber of Commerce. He resides with his wife, the former Mary Lu Traylor, at 1324 S. Douglas. They have two children, Mary Katherine, 11 and Carolyn Beth, 7. Hunting, fishing and an occasional game of golf provide relaxation for Potentate Schnirring whenever time allows.

Schnirring's intense interest in Ansar activities and Shrine charities is evident in a wide range of Shrine and Masonic endeavors. High among his heartfelt interests is the expansion of the work of the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children and the new hospitals for the treatment of Children's burns. Among his many affiliations are: Central Lodge No. 71, AF & AM; Springfield Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Elwood Commandery No. 6, Knight's Templar; St. Edward Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine; Springfield Consistory, A.A.S.R. (Captain of the Guard, Sangamo Lodge of Perfection); Springfield Court No. 20, Royal Order of Jesters. For the past year, Schnirring has served as Chief Rabbi on the Divan of retiring Potentate G. Wilbur Bell.

Schnirring's appointment of Charles E. Bostick as Outer Guard on his Divan completes the full membership of that body. Bostick is a life-long resident of Springfield. He is a registered representative of Dempsey-Tegeler, Inc., dealing in investment securities, with their home offices in Chicago. Bostick resides with his wife, the former Genevieve Norris, at 2121 Noble Avenue, Springfield. He is a member of the First Christian Church, a past Director of the American Business Club and belongs to the Island Bay Yacht Club, Springfield Lodge No. 158, B.P.O.E., American Legion Post No. 32, and the Sangamo Club. EMPORIUM

Aviation Great, 66, Returns To Work As Designer, Shuns Executive's Role

By RALPH DIGHTON
BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A quiet, graying man walked into the employment office of the huge Lockheed Aircraft Corp. plant and asked for a job.

He filled out a routine form, turned it in and went home to wait for an answer.

Inside the plant, the form caused a furor.

An employment executive glanced through it and grabbed for a phone.

"Hey, we got some kind of a nut here who says he knows you," the man told Hall L. Hibbard, senior vice president. "He says he also knows just about everybody on the board of directors."

"And get this, where the application asks about previous employment at Lockheed, the guy writes down: 'President.'"

"That's no nut," Hibbard said. "That can't be anyone but Lloyd Stearman."

He was right.

Characteristically, Lloyd Stearman, one of the greats of aviation and first president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. when it was formed from a bankrupt firm in 1932, sought no help from any of his old friends when he decided he wanted to design airplanes again.

That was nine years ago. Today, Stearman, 66, is designing not only airplanes but spacecraft and, in his own words, "Happier than I ever was as President."

Stearman left Lockheed in 1935 "because I didn't want to be an executive — I wanted to get back into designing."

His name became familiar to thousands of World II airmen who were trained in the Navy's "Yellow Perils" and the Army's Stearman Cadets. Many of these rugged airplanes are still in use as crop dusters.

Although he designed the prototype and they bore his name, Stearman realized nothing from the famous trainers. They were built by the Stearman Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp., with which Stearman merged, after the 1929 stock market crash almost wiped out his private-plane building company in Wichita, Kan.

Stearman started that firm in 1927 and, riding on the enthusiasm for flying spurred by Charles Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight, made a fortune designing sport planes for movie stars and business executives.

After the stock market crash, his reputation enabled him to obtain backing from Walter Varney, an early-day airline operator; Boston financier Robert Gross, and others. The group brought the then bankrupt Lockheed Aircraft Co. of Burbank at auction for $40,000. Gross later became board chairman and the tiny firm grew into a giant employing 80,000 people.

Drawing Board Destiny
It was Stearman's destiny, however, to prefer drawing boards and cockpits over desks and private offices.

"You can't put wings on a conference table," he said in a recent interview.

Two years ago, Stearman, at an age when most men are getting ready to retire, tackled a brand new area: Designing winged space-planes to ferry astronauts back from manned orbiting laboratories.

He thus found himself working with problems he foresaw more than 30 years ago. In an interview in 1930 Stearman predicted that by 1960 Americans "will have rocket-shaped aircraft that will travel at such speed they will be able to circle the earth in an hour."

He also forecast that beat from air friction would melt conventional aircraft, metals. Today, at Lockheed's nearby Rye Canyon research laboratory, Stearman is running tests on columbium and other rare metals designed to resist nose temperatures up to 3,500 degrees Fahrenheit.

East-West Defectors Use Japan As Clearing House Before Choice

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has become a clearing-house for East-West defectors and police officials say they are beginning to feel like travel agents.

East Europeans, Asians of divided countries, even Cubans pour into Tokyo, tell the metropolitan police headquarters they don't want to return home and pronto they are on a plane or ship headed for their new destination, either in the free world or communism.

This country, which had virtually no experience with defectors since Soviet master spy Yuri Rastvorov made his sensational flight to American authorities in 1954, suddenly found itself playing middleman to many cases last year. These included 3 athletes and 10 tourists who came to the Olympic Games in October.

Why Japan?
Japanese officials are deeply puzzled by this sudden preference for Tokyo by potential defectors.

The defections had common characteristics: All European defectors were from behind the Iron Curtain. All Asian home switchers wanted to go to Bamboo Curtain lands.

Officials say the East Europeans abandoned their countries because of a desire for more freedom and the hope of a better life in the West. The Asians rarely had political motives; they mostly wanted to be reunited with family members in the other part of their split countries.

The score was: Three Russians and four Hungarians who went either to the United States or West Germany. Two Chinese Nationalists and seven South Koreans who have sailed, or will soon leave, for Communist China and North Korea.

"There might have been more defections if Soviet sailor Victor I. Shishyalkin had not detected on the second day after the games opened," a police official speculated.

"It was probably too early and made it difficult for others to make a move. It must have been a shock to the Russians that a sailor defected, as sailors have many chances to go abroad," he said.

The 28-year-old Soviet sailor who arrived aboard a ship carrying Olympic tourists told police he had been planning his flight for a long time and had been looking forward to his trip to Japan as his best chance to escape.

Procedure Differs
The defectors differed between the East Europeans and the Asians. The former just walked into the American Embassy by themselves. The embassy then contacted the Japanese police, who ascertained two things: that the defectors were acting of their own free will and that the country to which they wished to go was ready to accept them.

Then, as promptly as possible, and under police guard, they were placed aboard an outgoing plane.

The Chinese and Koreans, on the other hand, contacted pro-Communist associations, and were taken to police headquarters accompanied by a Japanese lawyer, or asked police to take them into custody at an arranged place in the city. This was to avoid interference by South Korean or Nationalist Chinese officials or agents.

Japan has no laws yet governing police asylum cases and has been reluctant to get involved in instances where a foreigner sought Japanese help to proceed to a third country.

In the Rastvorov case, where the Russian was secretly flown to the United States by an American plane before Japanese authorities knew it, Japan played no role.

Animal Agriculture Dominates U. S. Farm Income!

Cattle and calves represented 17.6 per cent of U. S. Farmers cash receipts in 1963. The amount sold totaled some six and a half billion dollars. Monthly milk checks and sale of dairy cattle and calves brought in six and four tenths billions representing 17.4 per cent of the total. Poultry including turkeys, eggs and broilers accounted for three and a quarter billion dollars or 9% of the total receipts. The pork industry accounted for sales of three billion, thirty five million which was 8.2 per cent of the total. Remember these are U. S. figures—those for Illinois or Morgan County would be somewhat different. We could dig them out if you'd like to see them.

Host To Caravan

The president reported that the Sangamon County Fair Association is hosting the midwest gathering point for the Wally Byam Caravan, for three days over Memorial Day, and that the Fair association is requesting the help of all local organizations in showing a warm welcome to this group of approximately 700 persons in from 200 to 400 mobile homes. The group will congregate at New Berlin from all points east, and will travel westward to their Rocky Mountain national convention. The president appointed Mrs. Woodrow Marr as the Woman's club representative to work with the other organizations in planning the weekend activities.

Mrs. McCullough also reported that the Village Board has requested the Woman's club, with other village groups, to name a representative to the Centennial planning committee, whose initial meeting will be held Jan. 27. Mrs. W. K. Dunlap has accepted this position.

Volunteers Needed

Mrs. Raymond Long, of the mental health committee, requested additional volunteers who would be interested in working one-half day a month, at intervals, or donate cookies for ward parties at the Jacksonville State Hospital, and that gifts of needed articles or cash are to be brought to the February meeting. Cash received will be used for coupon books, for the Veterans to use instead of cash to purchase needed supplies in the hospital commissary. Many Veterans never have any cash to spend, and these Coupon Books give them a feeling of independence.

Mrs. John Becker, chairman of the Veterans-Civil Defense committee, announced that February is Gift Month for the Veterans at the Jacksonville State Hospital, and that gifts of needed articles or cash are to be brought to the February meeting. Lower Farm Income
Illogical: Brannon

SPRINGFIELD — Charles Brannon, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and now legal advisor to the National Farmers Union, branded diminishing farm income as "illogical, unfair and unnecessary," in a talk here Thursday before 300 delegates to the Illinois Farmers Union convention.

"The price of retail food is up 15 per cent since 1949," Brannon told the delegates, "yet farmers are getting 15 per cent less for their produce. Farm income is now four times what it was 25 years ago, but the cost of production on the farm has risen five times in the same period," Brannon stated.

The farmer's share is now so low, Brannon continued, because farmers subsidize other components of the economy. "What we need is the government's stabilization influence in the market place," he said. "We want the government to do for us what we cannot do for ourselves by our dispersal over the land and by the nature of our operation," Brannon stated.

He explained that the efficiency of the American farmer gives us a clean, abundant food supply. We spend only 19 per cent of our budget on food, yet we have a high standard of diet, he said.

"While the food and fiber produced on our farms constitutes only four per cent of our national income, it accounts for 20 per cent of all U.S. exports. Food sold to the Common Market countries helps raise their standard of living, as does our purchasing of their industrial products."

"And the food we provide for the underdeveloped nations helps preserve their freedom, beef up their economy and keep foreign markets healthy for future sales," Brannon said.

The legislative program adopted at the convention calls for bonding of grain dealers and a reduced-rate license for farm trucks. The delegates also voted in favor of a broader weed-control program, and went on record opposing use of county funds for County Extension councils for Extension work so long as Farm Advisors are housed in County Farm Bureau buildings.

Beardstown

By VIRGIL REITHER

BEARDSTOWN — Former Mayor John H. Glenn had more than a passing interest as a staunch Republican in the victory scored by Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan over Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana as minority leader in the House of Representatives.

The two men were roommates aboard ship during World War II when both served in the navy, but had met long before when Glenn was manager and Ford was a member of an all star football team. Ford attracted pro interest in 1934 when he was center for Michigan as he led a luckless team that lost 7 and won one. In 1932 and 1933 Ford was second string center when Michigan's teams were undefeated.

Glenn, incidentally, says that Ford helped the late Rep. Sid Simpson in improving Beardstown's flood protection setup.

Dr. R. A. Spencer and family have moved to the Laurence club house on rural route 1. Their home was destroyed by fire recently.

Associate Circuit Court Judge Fred W. Reither and his bride, the former Joyce Shelly of Virginia, are moving to the home at 1406 Jackson Avenue, vacated last week by the Jerry Swearingen family. The Swearingens have moved to Macomb.

Bill (Pawnee) Fischer who took his family to Fort Collins, Colorado to make their home a couple of years ago, says he may move back to Beardstown soon. He was here over the holidays, having brought his mother, Mrs. William Fischer, back after a Colorado sojourn.

Don Wankel and family, who moved from Beardstown to Fort Collins, Colorado a few months back are now well situated. Don, a son-in-law of William Vette, has accepted a position in the Fort Collins post office.

Looking chipper and feeling better following an operation at Schmitt Memorial hospital, Gailord Jones, partner with his brother Don, at the Rexall Pharmacy, has resumed his work full time.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week made its greatest advance in four months, pushing one stock market average to an historic high and bringing two others very close to their peaks.

The week's volume also was the largest in nearly four months.

Wall Street seemed to have conquered its fears of a possible steel strike, of the troubles of the British pound and of the U.S. gold outflow for the moment, at least.

The stock market completed a series of nine straight sessions when more stocks advanced than declined.

The strength in stock prices was attributed to reinvestment of funds from large institutions whose supply of cash was fattened by year-end selling.

And industrial production rose sharply in December from November, the biggest gain being in automobile production. Latest figures on weekly steel production put this at the highest level in five years. Much of this was attributed to hedge buying in view of a possible steel strike.

On Thursday it was reported that the U.S. monetary gold reserves had sunk $200 million in the latest week to the lowest level since March 29. But this was largely ignored by the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week advanced 5.3 to an historic closing high of 332.7, topping the previous peak of 332.6 made Nov. 20. It was the largest gain since the week ended Sept. 12 when it rose 5.6 on news of Chrysler's settlement with the United Auto Workers Union.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week rose 8.55 to 891.15, a level just below the historic closing high of 891.71 reached Nov. 18.

Volume for the week was 28,149,370 shares compared with 23,334,940 the previous week. It was the largest since the week ended Sept. 26 when 28,566,200 shares were traded.

Gold mining stocks sank early in the week on news of a drop in the London gold price but they recovered in later sessions.

U.S. Treasury bond prices held firm last week, while corporate bond prices advanced.

The volume of new municipal financing for January is expected to total near $800 million.

College Athlete Slain In Bedroom Of Girlfriend

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Nashville woman was accused Saturday of shooting a college football player police say she found asleep in her daughter's bedroom.

Mrs. Hubert A. Marlin of suburban Madison was charged with first-degree murder of Charles Ray Neal, 20, of Lenoir City, Tenn., a sophomore at Middle Tennessee State College. She was freed on $5,000 bond.

Homicide detectives said the victim and his college roommate, Paul Edward Smith, 20, of Chattanooga, Tenn., came to Nashville Friday to date Carolyn Marlin, 22, an elementary school teacher, and Cynthia McClearin. Both women lived in a small two-bedroom house behind the home of Carolyn's parents.

Because of snow and slick highways, the boys were unable to return to the Middle Tennessee campus at Murfreesboro after their date, Smith, Miss McClearin and Miss Marlin told detectives William Hoobery. He said the two couples tried in vain to arouse Carolyn's parents to "get permission for the boys to spend the night."

The boys then went to sleep in the smaller house, Neal in Miss Marlin's bedroom and Smith in the living room. The girls, the detective said, decided to "keep each other awake by talking" and sat on the couch.

Later Miss McClearin went to the elder Marlin's home for breakfast. Miss Marlin went to her bedroom and fell asleep across the bed with Neal.

Learning the boys had spent the night, Mrs. Marlin went to the smaller house and found her daughter and Neal asleep. Unable to awaken Neal, she went to her home, got a shotgun and returned to the cottage, a patrolman at the scene reported.

"She punched him in the back and told him to get up," Patrolman Truman Shane said. "He woke up, but wouldn't get out of bed. She (Mrs. Marlin) said she either shot him, or the gun just went off — she didn't know which."

TRY SIBERIA
NEW YORK (AP) — Parade magazine said Sunday that a Roman tailor is stuck with three suits ordered by former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev because he doesn't know where to send them.

The tailor, Angelo Litrico, was quoted as saying: "I am out quite a few lira."

He noted that, "These suits will fit no other man."

Parade said Litrico has been making about five suits a year for Khrushchev, who first became his customer in 1957.

Military Standoff Springboard

tralization"; we need the will to carry out the language which already exists.

Q. What prospects do you see for some degree of political stability for South Viet Nam? Are elections possible or feasible?

A. South Viet Nam seems to be in a state of political evolution. I know of occasions when symptoms of political instability threatened but did not take place because of restraint and tolerance on the part of the leaders of the different groups. I do not foresee that elections will be—or should be—used to settle important questions for a long time to come.

Q. What, if any, circumstances do you foresee in which the United States might withdraw from South Viet Nam?

A. The aim of the United States is to help the Republic of Viet Nam to achieve and then to maintain its independence. Once it is clear that the Republic of Viet Nam has achieved its independence and is able to maintain it, there would be no need for U.S. military personnel. But I should think that economic aid would be needed for at least a generation—and that we, in collaboration with other nations, should provide what we can.

Q. Can the war in Viet Nam be won, in your opinion? Do you believe there can be a military solution?

A. I believe that the struggle in South Viet Nam can be won. But I do not think an exclusively military solution is possible. Nor, as I have indicated, do I think that an international conference now would be other than disastrous. In order to achieve a victory, there must be within Viet Nam the same degree of civil-political success as there is military success.

Q. How do you assess the stakes in Viet Nam?

A. The stakes in Viet Nam are perfectly tremendous — win, lose or draw. If Viet Nam falls to the Communists, it would shatter confidence all around the world in America's ability to carry out a vitally important commitment.

The results of this would be felt in Thailand, Malaysia and the Philippines. But it would also be felt in Australia and Japan and ultimately in the Atlantic world. It might also lead the Soviets to emulate the Chinese Communists and adopt a more belligerent stance in their relations with the outside world.

But if we win, it will be a sign to the whole underdeveloped world that we know how to overcome Communist subversion and terrorism. In Africa, in Latin America as well as in Asia, this would be a "power fact" of enormous significance which could start the whole world off on a new and more hopeful course.

Our present success in bringing about a deadlock therefore commands quiet respect throughout the free world precisely because it is preventing the disaster of a Communist takeover and is building the springboard for victory.

U.S. Marshals Arrest 16 In Mississippi

the Klan. The FBI said it infiltrated the Klan and questioned more than 400 members in its exhaustive investigation.

The twin indictments revealed for the first time a government charge that Price had held the victims in the Neshoba County Jail while the mob gathered.

Indictment
Then, the indictment claims, Price and an accomplice, gas station attendant Billy Wayne Posey, 26, drove the trio out of town, where Price put them in a sheriff's car and took them down a lonely road.

Posey, the government then alleged, drove the bodies from the slaying scene to an earthen dam where they were found after a 44-day search by the FBI and 400 sailors sent to the swampy scene on orders of President Johnson.

But a description of the actual slaying was skipped over in the indictments, still leaving a mystery as to just how the three met their final fate.

All three — Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, Meridian Negro — had been shot. The bones in Chaney's body had been crushed.

The two indictments were based on old laws enacted during Reconstruction days. One charges the 18 with conspiracy to violently deny civil rights of the trio. The second alleges the 18 men took part in a conspiracy involving law enforcement officers to illegally punish the trio.

Only the state could bring murder charges in this case, since the slayings did not occur on federal property. In Mississippi, the maximum penalty for murder is death. The Neshoba County grand jury meets next month and could consider the case.

If convicted on the first count of the federal indictment, the 18 men could each be sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison and fined $10,000. Conviction on the four-count second indictment carries a penalty of one year and $1,000 fine on each count.

Calling the 16 men into her small, second-floor office at the post office building by twos and threes, Miss Carter read the indictments, then fixed bonds for each at $5,750.

Nearly two-dozen Philadelphia residents followed the defendants over here and stood outside the office while the bond arrangements were made.

On leaving, Rainey put his hand on a newsman's shoulder and said softly, "No, I won't have any statement." Price didn't say anything.

The three civil rights workers had gone to Philadelphia last June 21 to check on the burning of a Negro church used for civil rights meetings.

On leaving the charred church site, they were stopped by Price for speeding and taken to the county jail. After a six-hour stay, the government said Price took them out to the country.

In the past, Price has said he freed the trio after they posted $20 bond and they headed toward Meridian.

They were not seen again.

Weakens In Fight For Life

"It may go on for a week or 10 days. It is usually a painless illness with the patient semicomatose."

Churchill drifted on in his deep sleep while the world watched and waited.

World leaders — among them President Johnson and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower — voiced their distress. "Get well" telegrams, flowers and messages poured into the London house at 28 Hyde Park Gate. Churchill lay in a darkened back room.

Through the day Saturday the family came again to join Lady Churchill at his bedside. His daughter Sarah, who had flown in from Rome in the early hours Saturday morning, and his daughter Mary, wife of former Agriculture Minister Christopher Soames, spent most of the day at No. 28.

Family At Bedside
Churchill's journalist son Randolph visited, and two of Sir Winston's granddaughters came.

Lady Churchill — "My darling Clementine" — Churchill called her — was vigilant through the night at her husband's bedside, snatching only a little sleep.

Around mid-afternoon she and her two daughters and a family friend left the house in an auto. A member of the household said they were going to get some fresh air. It was the first time Lady Churchill had left the house since her husband was stricken.

The crowd had swelled again during the day from the small knot of faithful who stood outside all night in the cold.

Michigan Captures Big Ten Lead 90-68

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Caz-zie Russell poured in 36 points and led Michigan's Wolverines to a 90-68 victory over Northwestern Saturday night to take sole possession of the Big Ten basketball lead.

Michigan, ranked second nationally, remained the only undefeated team in Big Ten play as Minnesota dropped a 75-72 decision to Illinois. The Wolverines, with a 2-0 record, are now a lap ahead of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa in the conference race.

Michigan started slowly and trailed by seven points on two occasions in the first half before Russell and Bill Buntin took charge.

Buntin and Russell staged a rally late in the first half to give the Wolverines a 45-35 lead at intermission. Northwestern never got into the game in the second half.

Russell equalled his previous career high which is also a Michigan record against the hapless Wildcats. Russell whipped in 14 field goals in 28 attempts and connected on 8 of 10 free throws. Buntin scored 17 points.

High for Northwestern was Don Jackson with 20 points. The loss was Northwestern's second in as many conference games.

Redbirds Hit 62% From The Field In 77-59 Margin

VIRGINIA — Virginia raced to a surprisingly easy 77-59 non-league decision over Winchester here Saturday evening, as four players hit in double figures.

The once-defeated Redbirds, rated the team to beat in the upcoming PMSC conference tourney next week, led from the start and had little trouble.

Virginia shot a red-hot 62% from the field for the game, while the Wildcats hit an almost equally blazing 57% clip from the floor.

The Redbirds led 21-11 after eight minutes, and upped their lead to 19 points at half. Winchester managed to close the gap only slightly in the fourth quarter.

Wood Gebhardt hit 17 and Steve Larsen 13 for the winners, while Rex Brockhouse and Roger Spencer led Winchester with 16 and 14 respectively.

Virginia is now 9-1 on the season.

Iowa Breezes To Easy 111-68 Win

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa bolstered its bid for the Big Ten basketball title Saturday by whipping Minnesota State 111-68 after roaring to a 40-point halftime lead.

The Hawkeyes' total was the highest in school history, surpassing the 106 points scored in whipping North Dakota early in the season.

Iowa, boosting its conference record to 3-1, swept in front 65-25 in the first 20 minutes.

The Hawkeyes hit on 54 per cent of their shots in the first half, with Gerry Jones scoring 17 points and Chris Pervall 15.

Pervall wound up with 23 points, and George Peoples scored 21 for the Hawkeyes, who connected on 43 of 90 shots for a 48 per cent shooting mark.

WHITE HALL — North Greene had an easy Saturday night here, as they trounced Macomb 78-38, in a non-conference encounter. The Spartans rolled to victory with ten players getting into the scoring race, and were led overall by scoring ace Charles Martin, who netted 19 tallies in the triumph.

Macomb was led in the loss by center Don Weisman, who managed 10 points for his team's high.

The win leaves North Greene with an impressive 11-2 overall season record, while the Macomb Bombers rest on a cold 1-2 overall slate.

The Spartans emptied their bench, sending three of their players into double figures.

North Greene led from the start without any serious threat from the opposing Bombers, who went through the game on a cold 25.4% field goal mark, hitting only 17 of their 67 attempts from the floor.

Victory Keeps Illini In Conference Race

By BUFORD GREEN

CHAMPAIGN — Alternating between stretches of looking like Big Ten leaders and cellar dwellers, the University of Illinois held off a final surge by Minnesota in the closing seconds here Saturday afternoon, and registered a slim 75-72 conference triumph to stay in the league running.

The victory gives the Illini their third Big Ten win in four starts while the loss was the highly-rated Gophers' first in two outings.

The hosts were outshot from the field by Minnesota, 439 per cent to 372%, but missed only three out of 20 chances at the gift line, and held a 45-40 edge on rebounding over the taller Gophers.

Illinois raced out to leads that ran up to ten and 11 points at several points during the game, but each time could not stand prosperity and allowed the Gophers to rally into contention.

The Illini blew a ten-point lead shortly before half and led by only 36-33 at intermission. Again, after falling behind by one at the beginning of the second 20 minutes, Illinois swept to ten point leads.

A final surge by Minnesota, which resulted from three straight losses of the ball from pressure by the Gopher press, and had to scrap down to the wire for the narrow margin.

A balanced scoring attack, with all five starters hitting in double figures, led the way to victory, as guards Tal Brody and Jim Vopicka sparked from outside in the first half, and center Skip Thoren and forward Don Freeman took over the lead in the final 20 minutes.

Illini Lead Early
With Brody canning his classy jumper from the outside, and Vopicka hitting a pair of buckets on fast breaks, Illinois jumped out to a quick 8-2 lead before Minnesota started clicking.

Jumping - Jace Freeman tipped in a pair over taller defenders. Bogle Redmon hit a pair from 25 feet in the next four minutes as Illinois stayed in front, 20-15.

Brody again got hot from the side and Freeman added four more points as Illinois took the first decisive lead at 27-19 with 8:18 to play in the half. The lead soon reached double figures on a Brody bucket and one from 20-feet by Larry Hinton for a 31-21 difference.

Minnesota took advantage of some sloppy Illini ballhandling shortly before intermission and cut the difference steadily until a Phil Clark bucket and a free throw by Lou Hudson narrowed the edge to 36-33 at halftime.

Minnesota led for the only time in the game on buckets by Mel Northway and Hudson to open the second half, but from there Illinois ripped off the next ten points, led by three buckets by Redmon from outside and two hooks by Thoren for 47-37 difference.

Illinois managed to hold onto leads ranging from six to 11 points for the next 12 minutes before the Gophers staged their final surge.

Hudson Begins Hitting
Hudson, a standout 6-6 junior, who had been held to four points by Freeman in the first 20 minutes, began clicking along with Clark and Northway as Minnesota quickly shot back into contention at 61-58.

With time running out Illinois faltered slightly under the Gopher pressure bringing the ball down and Minnesota continued to draw closer.

A Freeman bucket off a fast break and a pair of free throws by Brody gave Illinois a seemingly safe 71-62 spread with 2:38 to play.

Three straight ball losses on the Gopher half of the court allowed the visitors to put themselves right back in the quickly closing game at 73-70 with 1:03 remaining.

A traveling call gave the ball again to the Illini after Hudson's 3 again pilfered the ball with a chance to put Minnesota within one.

Freeman calmly canned both ends of a one-and-one situation gift opportunity to ice the contest with :27 left.

Freeman was the game's high scorer with 19, while Hudson hit 18 for the Gophers.

MT. STERLING—St. Mary's, trailing through the first three quarters of a non-conference game here Saturday night, caught up in the fourth to edge Perry 54-50.

With fourteen seconds remaining in the ball game, guard Bob Kassing of St. Mary's drove through with a layup to make the score 52-50 in favor of the Mt. Sterling outfit.

In the fourth period, the St. Mary's five turned on the steam, behind the clutch shooting of forward Geisler, who tipped through a netter with a minute remaining in the game, to make it 50-47 in favor of the host outfit.

Zurkammer Hits 38 As Mac Falls 87-81

ROLLA — The University of Missouri School of Mines posted an 87-81 edge over the MacMurray Highlanders here Saturday night, although MacMurray scoring ace Tom Zurkammer erased the school scoring record with his 38 point game high total.

Zurkammer surpassed the previous scoring record, established by guard Jim Hargrave, who netted 32 against Illinois College earlier this year, by dumping through 24 of his 38 tallie total in the first half.

Guard Jim Farber of the Miners, led his outfit to victory, scoring 23 points in the effort.

The first half saw the lead change hands between MacMurray and the Miners several times, with MacMurray's biggest lead being that of 28-22 with 9:49 left in the first period.

The Missouri outfit came out on top at the halftime break, in possession of a three point, 40-37 reading.

Rolla built up a 53-47 margin in the second period, with 15:36 remaining in the game, but the Highlanders reversed things a bit with a 63-56 decision with 10:08 left to go.

The score was tied three times more, the last being a 72-72 count at 4:36, as the Miners moved ahead to stay on a basket by forward Dave Good, who gave the hosts, 74-72 reading.

MacMurray failed to get into the swing of things thereafter, as Rolla proceeded to win going away.

The victorious Miners clipped along at a respectable 48.5% mark, connecting on 33 of their 68 attempts from the floor, while the losing Highlanders garnered a slightly lesser 45.8% netting 33 of 72 field goal attempts.

The two teams were tight at the charity stripe also, with Rolla nabbing an 84% mark, dumping through 21 of 25 attempts, while MacMurray snatched a 75% free throw average by making 15 of their 20 tries.

Indiana Twins Pace 84-72 Count Over Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana's twin seniors, Tom and Dick Van Arsdale, contributed 36 points Saturday as the Hoosiers defeated Ohio State 84-72 in a Big Ten Basketball game. It was the first victory for Indiana on the Buckeye Court since 1959.

The Ohioians dropped into the Big Ten cellar with an 0-2 record and 6-6 over-all. The Hoosiers, beaten only by Illinois, climbed to a 12-1 record, with 3-1 in the league.

Tom Van Arsdale led the scoring with 21 points. Dick had 15, with John McGlocklin contributing 17. Ron Sepic led the losers with 19.

The Hoosiers led practically all the way, although it was only 38-35 at the half.

Wichita Claims MVC Lead With 75-64 Triumph

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita took undisputed lead in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race Saturday with a 75-64 victory over St. Louis.

The victory gives Wichita, third ranked in the nation, a 5-0 conference record. St. Louis is now 4-1.

All-America Dave Stallworth, who graduates at mid-term, and Dave Leach each scored 19 points for Wichita, but Bill Beckemeier of St. Louis was high point man with 22.

Stallworth grabbed 12 rebounds and was credited with 10 assists. Rich Parks of St. Louis also got 12 rebounds.

St. Louis pulled to a 29-29 tie with 1:19 left in the first half, but Wichita hit six straight points, with Stallworth getting four of them, to lead 35-29 at intermission.

Duke In 105-88 Conference Edge

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke's 10th-ranked basketball team hit on 46 of 91 shots to bury Wake Forest 105-88 Saturday afternoon in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

The victory gave the Blue Devils a 5-1 league record.

Five Duke players scored in double figures, with Steve Vancendak hitting for 22 points and Jack Marin for 20 points.

Bob Leonard scored 34 points, hitting 15 of 30 shots and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Wake Forest.

The Deacons stayed with Duke for 10 minutes when the score was 17-17, but the Blue Devils then romped to a 48-34 halftime lead.

SPORTS LEADERS ISSUED WARNING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized sports leaders got a new warning Saturday night to keep a clean house or face a clean-up by public demand.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said that "there is growing concern in the nation over the possible erosion of ethical standards in organized sports."

Bayh, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, voiced his views in an address prepared for the annual dinner of the Touchdown Club in presenting the Coach of the Year award to Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian.

Bayh said that "unless those closest to organized sports take the primary responsibility for maintaining a clean house, they will face the less desirable alternative of having others try to do it for them."

Mays Signs $105,000 '65 Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays signed Saturday for another $105,000 season with the San Francisco Giants, remaining the highest paid player in baseball.

Willie, 34, is one of five major league stars to receive $100,000 a season. The others were Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

All except Mantle have retired. Mickey has not signed for 1965 and might equal Mays' pay for the upcoming season.

Now 34, the All-Star center fielder goes into his 14th season with the Giants. He is the only player remaining on the club among those who made the switch from New York in 1958.

He led major league home run sluggers with 47 last year, finishing the year with a .296 batting average after hitting above .400 early in the season.

Mays is seventh on the all-time home run list with 453, one less than Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

Prep Wrestling Tournament Has Record Number

CHICAGO (AP) — The state high school wrestling tournaments have drawn a record field of 205 downstate and suburban schools, plus 22 Chicago schools, the Illinois High School Association said Saturday.

Ten years ago, the IHSA said, only 87 downstate and suburban schools were entered in the tournament series.

This increase, it added, "proves again that wrestling is the most rapidly growing sport in the high school athletic program."

The state series opens with 28 district tournaments Feb. 11-13. Winners of the first two places in each weight class will advance to sectional competition.

Feb. 18-20. First and second place winners in the sectionals will qualify for the state finals scheduled for Huff Gym at Illinois Feb. 26-27.

Waukegan is defending state champion. Sterling Township was runner-up last year and Aurora East and Proviso East tied for third place. All four of these schools again are considered strong threats.

DISCONTINUE OPERATIONS GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — Directors of the Grand Forks baseball team, a 27-year member of the Northern League, decided Friday to discontinue operations because the team has no playing field.

Municipal Park, where the Forks have played home games, will be eliminated when a highway cuts through that portion of the city and plans for a new playing field have failed to materialize.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams announced Friday the hiring of Don Doll as defensive backfield coach.

Model Housing Code Provisions Listed

Prepared By
League Of Women Voters

The citizens of Jacksonville are being asked to support a housing code, which will affect the future of the city and of each resident, directly or indirectly. The city council will act upon the measure, but the councilmen base their judgment on what they feel are the needs and desires of the people they represent. Therefore, the basis of a sound decision by our governing body is the considered judgment of an informed citizenry.

The proposed code is patterned after the Model Housing Code of the State of New York. It is designed, very simply, to insure each person in the community a decent place to live. It clearly defines basic and uniform standards for achieving this; some of its requirements are as follows:

1. The provision regarding maximum occupancy, aimed at preventing overcrowding in some older houses that are divided into many small apartments, gives figures for providing adequate floor area for the number of persons using a house: "One occupant per room having a floor area of at least 80 but less than 120 square feet; two occupants per room having a floor area of at least 120 but less than 180 square feet; and three occupants per room having a floor area of 180 or more square feet."

2. The section on structural requirements is concerned with such items as keeping the roof in a watertight condition, providing drainage as needed around foundations, repairing deteriorated walls, preventing moisture and termite damage, and painting.

3. Fire prevention requirements include removal of accumulated combustible materials, means of preventing the spread of fire, and protection for furnaces and fireplaces.

4. Another section governs the use and maintenance of equipment in these areas: electrical, cooking, and refrigeration equipment; plumbing, fuel gas, heating, chimneys, flues, and gas vents, incinerators, air conditioning and mechanical ventilation, and fuel oil. This section applies only to equipment that is in use.

5. The section on property maintenance requires, for example, screening of openings in basements and cellars with wire mesh "or other suitable materials" as protection against insects and vermin, and provision of screen doors and window screens from May 1st to October 1st.

6. There is a chapter containing "Housing Standards applicable to mobile homes and mobile home courts," which are similar to those for private dwellings.

7. Another chapter provides for the administration and enforcement of the regulations. This is only an outline of some of the provisions of the housing code which would help to insure safe and sanitary dwellings for all the people of Jacksonville. The League of Women Voters of Morgan County urges the residents of Jacksonville to investigate this code and to become familiar with the provisions which will guarantee decent housing for Jacksonville.

Citizen's Group Seeks Industry For Bluffs Area

BLUFFS — Members of the Bluffs Civic club reviewed the group's progress in seeking to attract new industry to the area under the "New Enterprise" program during a regular meeting recently.

President Clyde Taylor presided during a brief business session following a chicken dinner served to the twenty-five members present by the Woman's club.

A special thanks was voted to each member and to the members who had served on various committees the past year. Due to efforts on the part of several club members Faber Industries have purchased a tract of land in our area and should start construction in the near future. Members of the New Enterprise committee are also working with another company at this time in helping them find a suitable site for a location in or near Bluffs.

Election of officers was then in order and the nominating committee chairman, Keith Prunty, presented the following officers in nomination: President, Thomas Dickens; vice-president, C. Omar Mueller; treasurer, F. J. Muntman; secretary, Harvey Vortman. They were elected by voice vote.

Elected to the board of directors were George Krusa, Jack Moore, J. O. Sears, Clyde L. Taylor, Thomas Dickens, John Allen and I. D. Mueller. Thomas Dickens, newly elected president, informed the members present that he would have his committee appointments made by the January 25 meeting. An interesting program is planned.

A membership campaign is now in process. Anyone in the community desiring to work for the Civic improvement of Bluffs may join by contacting J. A. Knoepfel, chairman; Jack Moore, Robert Albers, C. Omar Mueller or Clyde L. Taylor.

LODGE TO INSTALL MEKEDEOSIA — Trinity Chapter 636, Order of The Eastern Star, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Masonic Hall. There will be installation of officers with refreshments and a social hour following the meeting.

Snow Covers State

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — There was plenty of snow and bright sunshine in most of central Illinois Saturday, but the fall was much lighter in the north.

Temperatures fell steadily in northern Illinois and zero or below was looked for in Chicago suburbs.

Robert Thomley, 47, of Decatur was killed in a snowstorm when his automobile collided with a freight train at a crossing near Chenoa, McLean County.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour caused much drifting and blowing snow in the Decatur-Champaign area and in parts of Southern Illinois. Drifts in some spots ranged from six to ten feet in height.

Midday temperatures were mostly in the low teens. Moline and Quincy each recorded snow above zero Saturday morning and it was eight above in Rockford.

U.S. 51 from Decatur to Bloomington was open, but many east-west roads in the central part of the state were blocked by drifts. Routes 47 and 150 out of Mahomet in Champaign County were cleared, but some side roads remained partially blocked Saturday.

In Chicago the Illinois Central and the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend railroads reported some morning delays on their suburban lines because of frozen switches. Some trains were delayed up to two hours. All Chicago's snowplows were in action clearing the snow from streets and boulevards.

Routes blocked or partially blocked included:

U.S. 36 east of Casner; 136 west of Rantoul; 150 from Mahomet to Champaign; Ill. 10 west of Champaign; Ill. 130 between Charleston and Mattoon; Ill. 121 east and west of Sullivan. In Mahomet, the Corn Belt Volunteer Fire Department played Good Samaritan to 30 stranded motorists Friday night. Firemen provided the overnight guests with food, hot coffee and sleeping quarters for the night.

Many cars and trucks were stalled for a time Friday night in the Champaign area. The temperature in northern Illinois was expected to drop to 15 below zero during the night with a range of zero to five above due in the southern part of the state. Sunday's highs are likely to be in the 20s.

Some midday reports: Paducah, Ky., 17; Milwaukee, Wis., 16; Chicago and Joliet, 20; Vandalia, Belleville, Champaign, Rockford and Evansville, Ind., 15; Peoria, 14; Springfield, 13; Quincy and South Bend, Ind., 12; Moline, Ill., and Dubuque, Iowa, 8.

Municipal League Proposes To Let Cities Pick Tax

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Municipal League proposed Saturday that the legislature allow cities to choose among seven ways to raise revenue. A half-cent sales tax boost was included.

"This would finally give cities what they are entitled to — the right to decide their own fate," Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago commented on the action by the league board of directors.

A.L. Sargent, league executive, said it was the first time such a broad, take-your-pick program was proposed to underwrite an apparently unending trend toward urbanization.

Cities were allowed in 1955 to enact a half-cent sales tax. Including state sales taxes, Illinoisans pay 4 cents on the dollar.

Other proposals adopted were for authority to enact a city gasoline tax on liquor, a cigarette tax, a hotel tax, a regulatory tax on businesses affecting health or safety, and a tax to license building contractors.

Previous authority for cities to tax cigarettes was withdrawn in 1955 when the city sales tax passed. Sargent said that in 20 municipalities that had a cigarette tax of one cent, it produced an average of $1.17 per capita per year.

Michael Griesdorf, Skokie village president of the league, said attendance included leaders from Decatur, Kewanee, Highwood, Jacksonville, Alton, Moline, Shelbyville, Salem, Waukegan and Wheaton.

In remarks to the board, Daley said cities — whether large or small — are facing similar demands to provide increased anti-crime and other services because of increasing urbanization.

The league directors also supported proposed legislation to provide 50 per cent state reimbursement for cost of training police recruits.

Other proposals endorsed would provide judicial authority to annex to cities those adjoining territories which meet extensive qualifications; provide that any increase in state motor fuel tax should continue to give cities a third of the revenue raised for roads.

Outbreak Of Flu In Cass

BEARDSTOWN — Absenteeism in local schools and places of employment is very great these days due to an apparent epidemic of flu.

Schmitt Memorial hospital is full to capacity and there is a waiting list of prospective patients, but Kenneth M. Feagan, administrator here, said that this heavy load is not primarily due to the flu.

"It is a combination of circumstances," he said, but added that "for this time of the year it is not particularly unusual for Schmitt Memorial to be full."

The hospital has 50 beds, of which eight are in the OB ward. As of Jan. 15 all 39 beds on the first floor were occupied and there was a waiting list of patients ready to move in when a vacancy occurred. The list of admissions has been high, with a ratio of 5 admissions to a single dismissal Jan. 14.

Schools have been hard hit for several weeks due to the prevalence of flu, however, and many local workers have been incapacitated due to the illness.

Norman Venz, principal at St. John's Lutheran school, said there were 12 absences Jan. 14 and added that in his 27 years of teaching the present situation had never been equaled.

"This is our 36th day of school," he stated, and there have been only 10 days when we have had a full attendance. Enrollment at St. John's is about 90, and Mr. Venz said that the flu, both the stomach and throat variety, has been prevalent among its students since September.

Superintendent Loren Lemmon said at the high school Friday that the total absences on Jan. 14 was 198 or about 10-12 percent of the near 1700 enrollment in local schools.

"This situation has prevailed since the Christmas vacation," he said, "and we think most of it due to the flu. We also have three teachers off because of illness."

A breakdown of the absences by schools was: Beard 22, Brick 12, Gard 10, Lincoln 38, Washington 26 and the Junior-Senior High School 90.

Best treatment, according to one doctor, is aspirin, bed and "don't expose any more people than you can help."

Kenneth Ricks Of White Hall Weds Pekin Girl

WHITE HALL — Miss Patricia Maise of Pekin, Illinois and Kenneth P. Ricks, Jr., son of Mrs. Kenneth Ricks, Sr. of White Hall and the late Dr. Kenneth Ricks, were married during the holidays in Pekin. They are making their home at 2212 West Heading avenue in Pekin. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maise, Pekin.

The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Pekin. A reception was held in the Elks club ballroom in that city.

The bride is a graduate of Pekin High School and Maycrest College, Davenport, Iowa. She is a teacher in the Smith school at Pekin. The groom received his master's degree from University of Illinois and is recreation director for the Peoria Park Board.

"Honoring Miss Biggs in this manner," said William W. Geary, operating vice president, "not only recognizes her ability as a saleswoman, but also her knowledge of the individual Illinois business communities which has enabled her to provide her clients with outstanding Yellow Pages service."

Miss Biggs has been so honored twice in the three years since the award was initiated.

State Legislators Relax Before Senate, House Action Jan. 26

By DICK EMERY
Statehouse Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD — The pomp and circumstance of the inaugural ceremonies and the festive inaugural ball Monday outshone all other activities on Capitol Hill last week here.

Governor Otto Kerner took the oath of office and became only the third Democrat governor in the history of Illinois to have a second term.

Henry Horner was re-elected in 1936 on the strength of the Roosevelt landslide and Augustus French started a second term in 1949.

Kerner immediately called for reapportionment approval within the next 30 to 60 days. He promised new opportunities in the fields of education, employment and economic expansion.

He also called for a new revenue article, expanded recreational facilities, and more control of air and water pollution.

Governor and Mrs. Kerner served as host and hostess of the gala ball Monday evening. The distinguished guest list included U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Paul Douglas and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Ethics Framework
Also last week, the Senate opened arguments on the conflict-of-interest legislation previously introduced by GOP leaders in that chamber.

These bills are designed to set up a code of ethics for legislators and for state employees. Both houses recessed until Jan. 26.

There will be little activity around the statehouse this coming week, with most high ranking state officials attending the inauguration of President Johnson in Washington Wednesday.

Some lawmakers are taking advantage of the brief recess and getting away from the bitter cold weather by flying off to Florida to soak up some warm sunshine before diving into the most complex sessions in the 146-year history of the General Assembly.

The introduction of the Democratic reapportionment legislation in both the House and Senate has stirred up some controversy in the Republican camps of both houses.

Follow House Court
Gov. Kerner said the remap plan would reapportion the House and Senate on a population basis, "strictly in accordance with the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling" of one man-one vote.

Sen. Harris W. Fawell (R-Naperville) asserted that the Kerner plan violates the high court declaration.

"The Democratic remap bases distribution of Illinois Senate seats for the 1967 session on the population spread in Chicago and in 1960," he said.

"The 1960 Federal census is obsolete as a population guide for 1965 or 1967," he added.

Fawell called for a more up-to-date apportionment of Senate seats, claiming that the population in the City of Chicago has decreased since 1960, and that the suburban areas have experienced unprecedented population growth.

Rep. Harris Rowe (R-Jacksonville) said last week that "compromises are necessary between the two major political parties." He has gone on record as favoring early settlement of the reapportionment hassle.

Need Maps First
"As soon as the Republican (reapportionment) maps are introduced, it will be possible to sit down and analyze them," Rowe said. "Only then will it be possible to work out some agreement," he added.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston) said the GOP remap bills would be introduced in the House and Senate Jan. 26 when both houses reconvene to hear Gov. Kerner's annual budget message.

GRIGGSVILLE DOGS RUN INTO TROUBLE

GRIGGSVILLE — Mayor Don Hannant of Griggsville has issued a reminder to all dog owners of the Griggsville city ordinance No. 1964-6 Section 3 (running at large). Any dog found upon any public street, sidewalk, alley, parkway, or an unenclosed place shall be deemed running at large unless such dog is firmly held on a leash, or is in an enclosed vehicle.")

Hannant said the city is giving two weeks' notice for citizens to comply with the ordinance on Monday Feb. 1. Donald Hull will be in the city for a week picking up any dogs found running at large in violation of the ordinance.

Slight Cigaret Drop

The slight wane in U.S. cigaret consumption during the year since the appearance of the surgeon general's report on smoking and health is significant, but far from sensational. The decline sounds large expressed in numbers of cigarets — 15 billion fewer than in 1963. It sounds a good deal smaller when one notes that the 1964 expenditure for cigarets was seven billion dollars, not even 200 million below the total spent in 1963.

The basic conclusion to be drawn is that, although the annual growth of cigaret sales has been arrested for the time being, there will be no substantial drop in consumption unless a lot more educational work is done. This ought to be focused especially on teen-agers and children. It would be a mistake to concentrate exclusively on discouraging the young from smoking, however.

Dr. Eugene Guthrie, staff director for the federal smoking report, argues persuasively that fathers in their 30s and 40s have the most to gain—not only for themselves, but for their families—from quitting the cigaret habit. It is they, having smoked for years, who will increasingly feel the adverse effects on health. There is evidence to indicate that quitting, even after years of smoking, reduces the chances of health troubles.

In any case, it is plain that much remains to be done by medical groups and the government if the seriousness of the smoking problem is to be conveyed to both old and new smokers. The evidence of smoking's adverse effects on health is strong enough to justify vigorous, sustained effort along these lines.

Famine In India

Even if humane considerations were left out of the picture, India's present encounter with threatened famine would be a source of anxiety in the free world. Any weakening of this huge nation which dominates the sub-continent reduces its power to resist both the hostility and the blandishments of communism.

Already there have been food riots in various parts of India. Calcutta and Madras have been placed under food rationing. Now it has been announced that rice, wheat and sugar, the basics in the diet of the Indian people, will be rationed also in New Delhi beginning next month.

The greater the drain on India's resources to fight against famine, the less strength it has to resist the potential threat of China or the seductions of Soviet aid. The United States has been generous with food for India, but we and other free nations would be wise to be even more generous now. A starving India would imperil the stability of Asia.

Take It From Ann

Outspoken Opinion of Party Attire

Threatens Long-Standing Friendship

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine showed up at a dinner party in a green sequin dress that resembled fish scales. She was wearing a yellow gold necklace — a life-like replica of a snake, complete with emerald eyes. From her ears hung a couple of jeweled turtles. To top it off she had a butterfly clip in her hair. She was a sight with all that animal life on her. Later in the evening (after she had a few drinks) she came over in a belligerent mood and said, "You haven't said anything about the way I look." I had had a few drinks, too, and replied, "I think you look hideous, now that you mention it."

Her husband caught her arm just as she was about to hit me. As he led her away she shouted, "You're always been a jealous cat. Don't ever speak to me again."

I really do like her in spite of her big mouth. We have been friends since high school. What do you recommend in a case like this? —E. T.

Dear E.T.: Both you ladies (?) ought to stick to ginger ale.

Dear Ann Landers: My 16-year-old sister got herself into a jam and had to go stay with my aunt who lives in Ohio.

This has knocked our family for a loop. Mom, who has been depending on her older brother for advice and help since our dad died three years ago, cries all the time.

Girls who feel restricted tend to go hog wild once they get loose. They are determined to do everything they have been told they should not do — just to "get even."

Summing up: High school girls should be permitted to date provided they are reliable and trustworthy. This means adhering to a curfew and going out only with boys who have been properly introduced to the family. (I hope this helps.)

Dear Ann Landers: I sure do get a kick out of your column. What is the matter with the wives in this country anyway? They are the most suspicious bunch of females in the whole world.

Almost every day some dizzy dame will write in and say, "I think my husband is fooling around but I'm not sure." Why do they always want to believe the worst of a guy?

Dear Ann Landers: My 16-year-old sister got herself into a jam and had to go stay with my aunt who lives in Ohio.

This has knocked our family for a loop. Mom, who has been depending on her older brother for advice and help since our dad died three years ago, cries all the time.

Uncle is very strict and old-fashioned. He is making home a jail for my 17-year-old sister and me. (I am 15.) He has told mom we should not have any dates. We are allowed to go to school functions only if he drives us over and comes to get us.

Uncle says a girl should not go out with boys until she is ready to get married, and that means 21 years old. Please print your advice. If anyone ever needed help, we do. —PRISONERS AT HOME

Dear Prisoners: Keeping girls cooped up is no way to insure good behavior. It usually produces opposite results.

I keep a razor in my locker at the plant and sometimes I shave before I leave for home. Mine is one of those heavy beards and I have to shave twice a day if I want to look right.

Whenever I do this my wife accuses me of needing someone after work—especially if I come home a little later than the usual six o'clock. Aren't some women nuts? —SQUARE SHOOTER

Dear Shooter: Yes — and some men are a little nuts, too. What's so special about that razor home that you have to shave for it? Since your wife would rather see you home at six o'clock with a five o'clock shadow, why not make her happy?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That living doll, Julie Newmar, finds herself bereft of a costar, but she thinks she'll be able to carry on, thank you.

Last week CBS announced that Robert Cummings had asked for and received his release from "My Living Doll," in which he played psychiatrist to a robot — Julie. It was the first time within memory that a star had walked out of a series during its first season, and his action had the trade puzzled. Cummings remained silent.

It had been an ill-kept secret that Bob and Julie did not get along well at all. In fact, there were reports of shouting matches.

Julie seemed not at all perturbed about the loss during a luncheon interview. She claimed to be on a diet, then ate everything in sight.

And what about her relationship with Cummings? She put down her fork for a brief moment. "Oh, dear," she said. "I, unfortunately, am a woman of complete honesty. I would like to tell everything, but Mr. Cummings' relations with CBS have not been settled legally. If I spoke my mind, I might get involved in possible litigation."

"Let us say that Mr. Cummings and I come from different schools of acting. He is from the movies—and there is much to be learned there. But I am stage-oriented, and the two systems did not blend too harmoniously perhaps."

"My Living Doll" was fairly well received by the critics, but faced the rugged opposition of "Bonanza" on Sunday night and hence fared poorly in the ratings. The show was shifted to Wednesday night, where Julie has confidence it will prove its worth.

Sen. Monroney Puts Foot

In Mouth, Jerks It Out

By WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A mark of the good politician is the knack of extricating himself from sticky repercussions caused by an earlier off-chance remark. Here's how Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., handled one of these tricky situations recently:

On an inspection tour in South Viet Nam, Monroney told a group of American "advisers" they were the "first-string U.S. military team." The comment was duly noted in Army publications.

A few days later, Monroney arrived in South Korea—where two divisions of the Eighth Army still guard the demilitarized zone near the 38th parallel—to find officers miffed at what they thought was a slap at their command.

Gist of their criticism: "What about us, senator? We're part of the same football team as those guys in Viet Nam."

Answered Monroney smoothly: "You boys must realize we play two-platoon football in the States now. Our forces in Viet Nam are the first-string offensive team and you're the first-string defensive team."

Anthony Celebrezze, Health, Education and Welfare secretary, speaking about the administration's new program to combat cancer, stroke and heart disease, made the point: "Our biggest problem is to convince people that there's no such thing as instant cure. The next biggest problem is to convince ourselves there's no such thing as instant education."

After a hectic week defending his country's role in the missionary — saving parachute operations in the Congo, Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, returned to Washington to introduce a film about the U.N. at a State Department shindig. Sighed Stevenson:

"It certainly is a pleasure for me to watch something which doesn't involve harsh incentives for the United States and myself and where no one in the audience asks for permission to answer my words."

When the Government Printing Office released a list of its top 25 publications for 1964, observers were not surprised to find "The Warren Commission Report" and "Smoking and Health" ranked first and second, respectively.

Surprising, though, were a few of the other government "best sellers." Among them were "Ducks at a Distance," "Attracting Birds," "Modern Math for Your Child," "Know Your Money" and "The Angler's Guide to Sharks of the Northeastern United States" — from Maine to Chesapeake Bay.

Noting that raw statistics which seem to prove a certain point may actually prove something completely different when viewed in another context, a government scientist notes:

"If a man stands with one foot on a hot stove and the other in a deep freezer, there are bound to be some statisticians who would assert that, on the average, he's comfortable."

Religion Today

By PAUL ALBRIGHT JR.

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Riding a hurtling test sled and learning a new system of breathing at high altitudes are not among the usual activities of a minister, even an Air Force chaplain.

For Capt. Allen A. Kolmer of Waterloo, Ill., however, these rigors are part of his self-imposed training to understand the work and problems of his flock at Holloman Air Force Base near here.

The chaplain, 31, has undergone stresses of 16 to 20 times the force of gravity on his shoulders and spine. He has learned breathing used in high-altitude flights of up to 43,000 feet.

Kolmer, a member of the United Church of Christ, has taken two rides on test tracks, known as decelerators, and undergone three days of tests in high-altitude chambers at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M.

The decelerators, or space sleds, are catapulted along two oiled rails until a braking device brings the sled to a quick halt. This abrupt stop imposes massive gravity forces on the body of the rider.

The tests are used to determine levels of human tolerance under varied forces.

The chaplain, based here since July 1963, said the jolt of stopping gave an impression of being no harder than a hard football tackle he used to receive while attending Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill.

Kolmer followed his sled rides by going to Cannon to learn pressure breathing in high-altitude conditions and qualifying to be a passenger in any jet aircraft, particularly in the Tactical Air Command's F4C supersonic plane, soon to arrive at Holloman.

"I'll probably be working with pilots if I go overseas and I need to know what goes on and the different things they encounter," the chaplain said. "It's part of my job as well as talking to people here."

Kolmer acts as chaplain for personnel at Holloman's north area, a complex of buildings making up the 6871st Aeromedical Research Laboratory and the guidance and control directorate.

The captain hopes his firsthand knowledge of the jobs many of the men perform will help him in his assignment.

Kolmer said he entered service because he felt there "was a terrible need for service people to have chaplains." He hopes to make the Air Force a career.

"I felt the churches were not carrying their end of this deal," he said. "A man enters service and the church forgets him and he loses his relationship with the church."

When not riding space sleds, the chaplain holds services, visits patients in the base hospital, counsels persons requesting it, and leads youth activities on base.

Kolmer, married and the father of three sons, attended Elmhurst College but was graduated from McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., and Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bauer, live in Waterloo, Ill.

FINDING THE WAY

Stir Up Your Gift

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
These are the tired days of the year, the time of beginnings but also the time of wearying of the burdens to be carried. It's a time to remember the line in the ancient prayer: "Stir up the gift that is in thee." But getting all stirred up requires a sense of understanding the things to which one gives one's self.

In the days of the 1930s this heaviness of the year was accentuated by the lack of work and the sense of frustration that hung over many people. The Depression was a difficult time in which to stir yourself up. Among the stories of courage that came out of that time is the record of one man who had an ancient apple butter pot, one of those great iron containers which could be placed on the wood fire and there, with much stirring, the fruit of the year could be brought into a tasty and nourishing food.

So, while some persons gave up and jumped from buildings and many more were otherwise lost in their own sense of despair, one man stirred. True, it was just a p.p.t.s., but he stirred. And people bought his apple butter.

After a while, Mr. Smucker knew that he had the beginning of a business there in Orrville, Ohio. His products became diversified and word came to our little village that if one gathered berries in the brambles and fruit from the trees, they might possibly be sold.

I was pastor of a small church where the young people had no money for their various projects. So they began to get into the "stirring act." They sold fruits and so young people found the way to go to some of the conferences which were planned and to do some of the things that had been thought to be impossible!

So the stirring continued until today the old apple butter pot has become one of the world's largest makers of jellies and jams. When I see the great trucks rolling over the highways bearing the sign of this company, I remember those weary days of the 1930s and the man who refused to give up. It's quite a story that grew from his willingness to keep on stirring.

St. Paul wrote to his young friend Timothy, reminding him of his parents and grandparents and then urging him "to stir up the gift that is in you." There are times when we've gotten all stirred up about something. Sometimes about the wrong causes. Then we need to stir up not only that which is within us, but to remember another line of the ancient prayer.

"Stir up thy power, O Lord, and come that by the help of Thy grace whatever is hindered by our sins may be speedily accomplished." In this sense, these are stirring days!

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Variety Is Spice of Meals

By GAYNOR MADDIX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I don't know much about nutrition, but I am eager to feed my family well. Can you give me some advice that I can understand?

A—The best simple rule to follow is VARIETY. The wider your choices of foods for your family meals, the more likely you are to be feeding them most of the foods they need. Follow the basic four group pattern, approved by nutritionists. Serve some food each day from each of these four groups:

1. Milk Group: Including what is used in cooking; for children, 3 to 4 cups; for teen-agers, 4 or more cups; for adults, 2 or more cups. Cheese and ice cream can replace part of the milk. For weight control, skim milk. For adequate diet, too.

2. Meat Group: Two or more servings of such foods as beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry, fish, liver or eggs.

3. Vegetable — Fruit Group: Four or more servings, including at least one citrus or other fruit or tomato juice (rich in vitamin C) every day, and one dark green or deep yellow vegetable (important for vitamin A) at least every other day.

4. Bread-Cereals Group: Several servings of foods made with whole, enriched, or restored grains.

Q—Is it true that wine makes blood?

A — That's an old-fashioned myth. No, there is no single food alone that makes blood. But don't let that fact spoil your enjoyment of wine. Just eat an adequate diet, too.

Pork Producers To Study S.P.F. Methods Tuesday

Martin Burrus of Arenzville will speak at the January meeting of the Morgan County Pork Producers association. It will be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Farm Bureau Hall.

Richard DeOnnellas, president of the association, reports that Burrus will discuss the subject of S.P.F. hogs, telling of his success and problems in raising them during the past two years.

S.P.F. (specific pathogen free) hogs are those which are free from certain diseases common in most swine herds.

At the meeting the pork producers will also make plans for the 2nd annual Morgan County Pork Evaluation Day. This event will be held later this winter and will give pork producers a chance to have their hogs evaluated, both on foot and on the rail.

All farmers who raise hogs are invited to attend the meeting.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

PIG CROP REPORT GIVES HOPE FOR HIGHER PRICES

The USDA Pig Crop Reports are always of interest to farmers. These reports are issued four times each year — in March, June, September and December. The reports in March and September cover only 10 corn-belt states, while those in June and December cover the whole country.

The Pig Crop Report issued in December is of special interest because it included some revisions of previous estimates. We might point out that the forecasts and first estimates of the pig crop are based largely upon questionnaires returned by farmers. Later, revisions are made from actual slaughter figures and — once every five years — from census figures.

Estimates based upon questionnaires returned by farmers are susceptible to some errors. First, the farmers who receive and return questionnaires often do not know exactly how many pigs and hogs they have on hand. It is easy to be in error by 2 or 3 percent. Second, farmers who do not receive and return questionnaires may be changing hog production more or less than those who report. These facts should always be kept in mind when Pig Crop Reports are analyzed.

Down 8 Percent The most important facts in the Pig Crop Report issued in December seem to be as follows:

1. The 1964 fall pig crop was 8 percent smaller than that of 1963.

2. Farmers reported intentions to cut the 1965 spring pig crop by 7 percent.

The number of hogs and pigs of various weights gives a useful clue to prospective market supplies and prices.

At the first of December, the number of market hogs weighing over 220 pounds was estimated at 6,250,000 head — 6 percent less than a year earlier.

Most of these hogs were marketed before January 1.

At the same date, December 1, the number of hogs weighing 150 to 220 pounds was estimated at 6,293,000 head, 7 percent less than a year before.

The number weighing 120 to 179 pounds was listed at 10,433,000 head, 8 percent less than last year.

Hogs weighing 60 to 119 pounds numbered 13,373,000, down 6 percent from the previous year.

Finally, the number of pigs weighing under 60 pounds was 17,043,000 head, 11 percent less than the number on hand a year before.

These figures point to market supplies of hogs averaging about 4 percent less during the first half of this year than in 1964.

Plenty Of Meat Other important price-making forces will include consumer income, up around 5 percent, and supplies of competitive meats, which are expected to be up 4 to 6 percent.

In 1964 monthly average prices of barrows and gilts at midwest central markets held around $14.50 from January through May. The averages may be around $16.00 this year.

A summer rise of around $3.00 is expected to begin in May or June. Prices may average around $2.00 higher in the last six months of 1965 than in 1964.

4-H Corn Contest Finalists

The 13th annual Illinois 4-H X-Tra Yield Corn Contest closed Jan. 9 with an award presentation luncheon at the University of Illinois. Morgan county was represented by Walt Schuttler, left, plant food specialist for the Morgan County Service Co., co-sponsor of the contest; Bob Reiser of the Berea 4-H club, 1964 county champion with a yield of 174.5 bushels per acre; J. Alan Petefish, also of the Berea club and the winner of one of the five scholarships offered in the contest, and Dale Millis, Morgan county assistant farm adviser.

Leslie Beall of Streator, Livingston county, had the top yield, 249 bushels per acre on his five-acre plot. This is a bushel an acre half less than the all-time record of 250.5 bushels produced by last year's winner.

The best yield in District 2, which includes west central Illinois, was 211.9 bushels per acre, produced by Dennis Vandernick, Geneseo, Henry county.

Reiser is a senior at Ashland high school and Petefish is a freshman at Western U., Macomb.

Other scholarship winners, were Douglas Wiersma, Morrison, Whiteside county; Max Hershberger, Urbana, Champaign county; Larry Alcock, Wheeler, Jasper county, and Frank Barbre, Carmi, White county.

To Inspect New Solar-Heated Hog House

URBANA — New ideas in solar-heated ventilating systems for swine housing have been incorporated into a nursery-finishing building on the Bill Grey farm near Hamilton, Hancock county.

Illinois farmers will have a chance to see this new idea during an open house program at the farm on Friday, Jan. 22, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The farm is located 1/2 mile east on U.S. route 1361 and 1/2 mile south of Hamilton.

The building is of wooden rigid-frame design with steel inside and outside. In addition to the solar heating system for winter use, the insulated side walls may be completely opened for summer use. Supplemental heat is provided by hot water controlled by motorized zone control valves.

The building was designed by agricultural engineers at the University of Illinois in cooperation with commercial companies. They wanted to design a practical swine production building at minimum cost to erect and operate.

Let's Go Birding

Rusts And Reds

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Are rust reds and red rusts the same? To those who care little for accuracy or for detail, they may connote the same colors. To artists or color specialists, however, they undoubtedly describe different hues of the color red.

Also in the world of birds, Rusties and Red-wings are not the same; they comprise two different species of black birds, properly called Rusty Blackbirds and Red-winged Blackbirds. Rusties are not at all common, but in the spring or fall a few can sometimes be discovered among other species of black birds, particularly among Red-wings and Grackles.

Squeaky Song

Rusties also have a blackbird call of their own—a loud short "chack," as it is often described. Its song, if it can be called one, is somewhat like the sound of a rusty hinge, a kind of weird creak. This peculiar song carries far and has a touch of gurgling music in it which helps the birder realize that a Rusty is in the neighborhood.

However, this blackbird isn't called a Rusty because of its squeaky song. Rusties have acquired their name from the rusty brown edges of their feathers, which, when new, give both the males and females, particularly the immatures in the fall, a reddish brown appearance. These rusty-edged feathers are found especially around the head and forward part of the body.

When the Rusties are sitting in trees above the head of the bird observer, they may look like just ordinary black birds with light yellow or white eyes. The ideal place to study them is in a field where they are feeding, and in the fall when their feathers are rusty.

On November 26 we found this situation ideal for such a study. At first the tops of the trees at the edge of a corn field were spotted with black birds, mostly Redwings, as we judged from their size and their quivering gurgles; and we soon detected their red or buffy epaulets. Then among them we recognized a couple of Rusties.

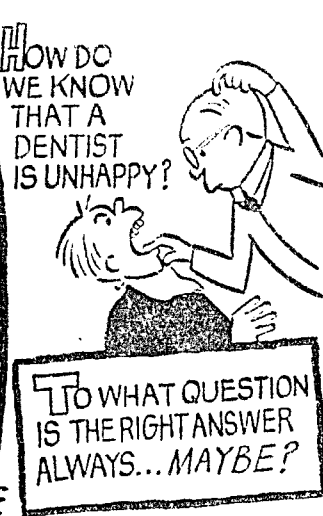

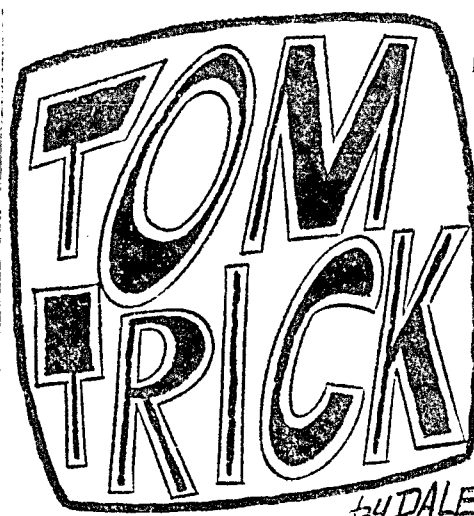

Like Little Lanterns

Soon the whole flock of blackbirds dropped down into the corn field. For some reason they maneuvered until the Rusties, and we discovered several of them, had separated themselves from the Red-wings. There at our feet we could easily see the rusty-tinted feathers and even the burred breasts of the Rusties.

Of course the red, yellow, and orange epaulets on the Red-wings glowed like little lanterns among the tawny dried corn stalks. No, the Rusties and the Red-wings were not the same, but each kind harmoniously took its place in the late fall picture of reds and rusts and browns.

Rockets And Space—

LISTENING TO MARINER IV

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON, JR.

As Mariner IV speeds toward Mars, with these additional Mars giant antennas at the Deep Space Instrumentation Facilities, be able to track probes to the (DSIF) around the world are planets and moon at the same time.

This DSIF network is now made up of three permanent tracking stations, each about 120° longitude from the other. A mobile tracking unit, a 210-foot antenna is being built at Goldstone. Similar antennas are being planned for Canberra and Madrid. The mobile station has a 10-foot wide dish antenna. It is located about one mile Woomera, a village in Australia; west of the permanent station at Johannesburg, South Africa. These three stations are equipped with 85-foot-wide dish antennas. There are two of these at Goldstone and one each at the other two stations. To keep up with the increasing demands of interplanetary space probes two new 85-foot antenna stations are being added. One will be at Canberra, on the coast of Australia, and the other near Madrid in central Spain. Greg's Daring Escape

By John Rankin

Greg and his big black dog, Nick, are on a winter hunting trip when the car skids and they wake up in the hospital. Greg's injuries are slight, and when he hears that a big, black dog has been so badly injured that he is to be put to sleep at the veterinarian's, the boy slips out of the hospital. He sidesteps a policeman who tries to grab him, and runs on.

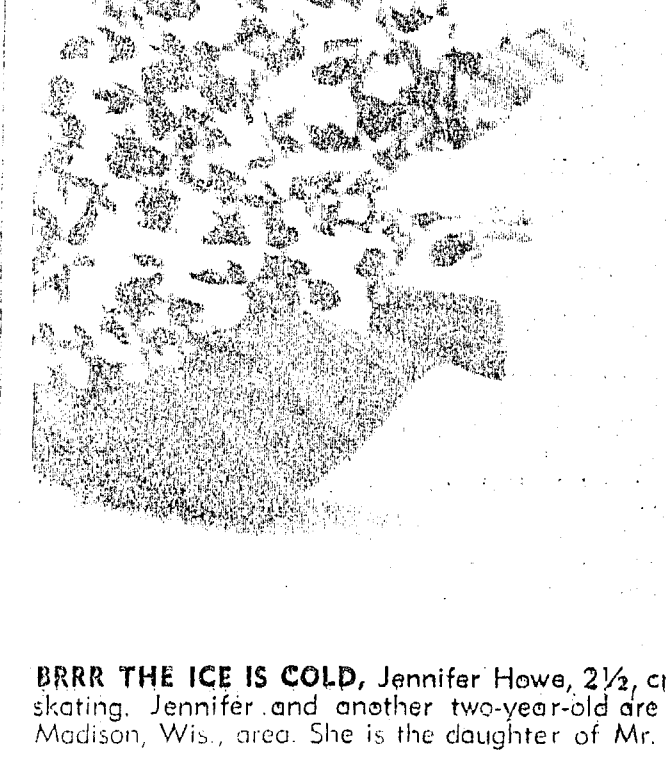

Greg wiped the snow from his eyes, shot a quick glance up and down the street and then darted down an alley where he ran right into the waiting arms of a second policeman!

At the hospital the next morning Dad was sitting on the side of the bed when Greg buzzed in. "Hey, Dad, we're getting out of here," he beamed. "The nurse said the doctor had released us or something."

"This must have been a pretty lively place last night," Dad said with a sly grin. "Seems it was officer Clancy that brought you back to the hospital. He left word at the desk that Nick was home safe and sound. Guess you skipped out of her looking for him, eh?"

Officer Understands "I thought Nick was at the dog clinic and I was plenty scared that Doctor Blair would put him away before I could get down there," Greg explained. "Officer Clancy thought I was crazy or something when he grabbed me, but he was a real swell guy about it all when I told him what was going on. Even rushed me down to the clinic in his patrol car."

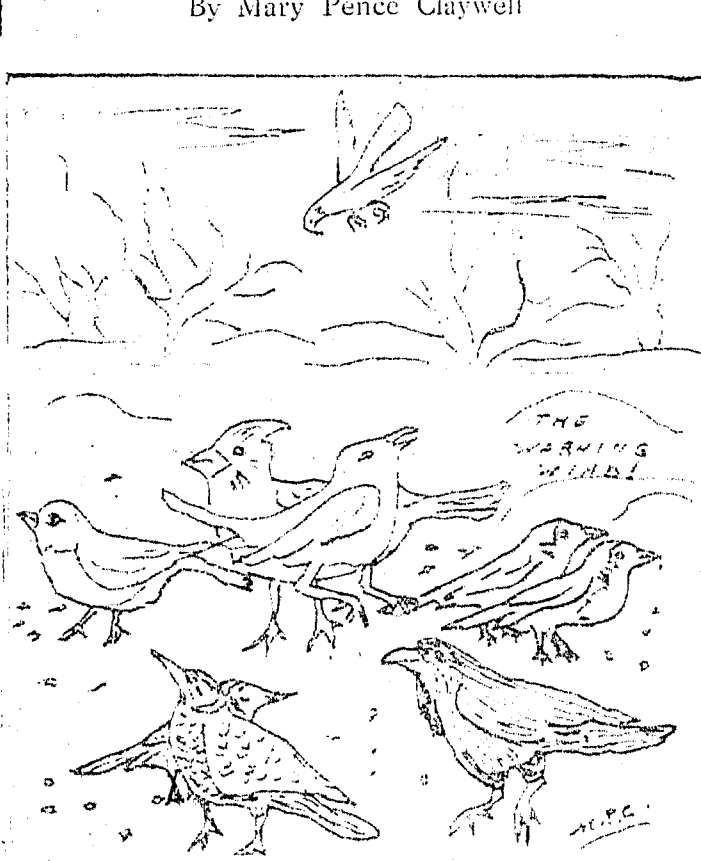

Dad's eyes sparkled with a knowing look. "But Nick wasn't at the clinic after all, was he?"

Prayer Poem

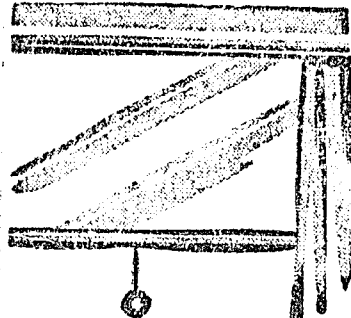

God Is Never Late

By Mary Pence Claywell

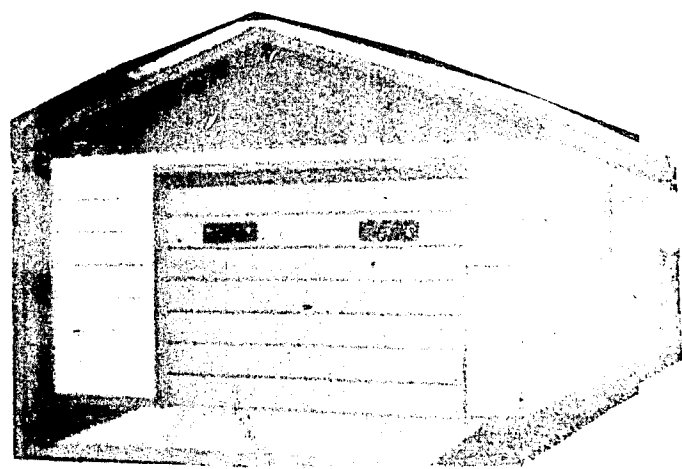

I watched our little, feathered friends,
That braved the snow and sleet...
As strong winds wafted them about.
And covered everything...to eat:
I quickly flung some crumbs around,
And watched from distant station,
Until a great flock gathered there,
To show...appreciation:
The snowbird, cardinal, and jay...
The scene is "country-laid"...

An old, black crow, the flicker,
The blackbird, unafraid,
Came down to feed in gladness...
There was no fuss or bother,
And neither, did the bolder ones,
Abuse...or peck each other:
But here, the story does not end...
Nor can I, make it last...
A hawk flew high, then hovered low:
My heart was beating fast...
As, for a fleeting moment,
I tried my best to pray...
Then...the north wind struck in fury,
And frightened them...away:
Almighty God, we thank Thee,
That, when our need is great,
Thou art a PUNCTUAL FATHER.
And never, never...LATE!

The appeal of cashmere takes on new intensity this spring with the dramatic appearance of new bulky weights and textured surfaces. Left to right, thick, but cloud-light texture in Chanel jacket is achieved with four-ply yarns. Jacket has contrasting border and is teamed with a sleeveless shell and slender skirt. It is a Bernhard Altman creation. Wide-ribbed, hand-loomed cashmere pullover by Hadley has cow's neck and lanky lines. Blueberry stitch jacket, shown in a variety of golden ball buttons and is matched with a finely lined skirt. Sleeveless bateau-necked suit has a wide belt and is topped with a bulky jacket. These are cashmere co-ordinates by Deloux.

JADE FOR A LADY

XXIV

I called the Hong Kong police. I said that I wanted to talk to whoever was in charge of robbery of Hsu Chin Kwang. After considerable delay I ended up with a sergeant who informed me that Inspector Hemming was at Hsu's house and asked what the nature of my call was. I told him it was friendly and hung up.

After a fast shower, shaved and got dressed and went downstairs. I got the Jaguar from the hotel garage and drove up into the hills as fast as I could. There were a couple of strange cars in the driveway, so I knew I must be in time. I parked in front of the house and went up to the door. In answer to my ring, it was opened by a native constable.

"Is Inspector Hemming here?" I asked. "Wait here," he said. He closed the door in my face and I waited. When the door was finally opened again, there was a different man there. This one was older, obviously British, but with an expression on his face which made me like him at once.

"I'm Inspector Hemming," he said. "Yes," I said. "My name is Milo March. I'm in Hong Kong representing the Personal and Inland Marine Insurance Association of America. I am particularly interested in thefts of jade — as a matter of fact, I was here the night before last speaking to the Hsu Chin Kwang about the subject."

"Won't you come in?" He stepped aside so that I could step into the hallway. "Did your company have insurance on Mr. Hsu's jade?" "I don't know," I said. "The Association represents a great many insurance companies, with branches and connections all over the world. Recently there have been many thefts of jade in different countries, and we believe they are all connected. We also believe that in some way Hong Kong plays an important part in the picture."

"How long have you been in Hong Kong, Mr. March?" "This is my fourth day," I said. "You, of course, checked with the police when you arrived?" "Of course," I said, with my most innocent look. "I spoke to an Inspector Simmons at the Central Police Station. We pledged mutual co-operation."

"Oh? How has that been working out?" "I haven't really had anything to co-operate about. When I do, I will naturally turn to the police. I haven't heard from the Inspector either—but perhaps for the same reason."

"Perhaps," he said. "What do you want here, Mr. March?" "Some of that mutual co-operation," I said with a smile. "I see," he said, but it was impossible to tell whether he believed me or not. "Well, there isn't much at the moment. We've only been on the case for about two hours."

"May I see Hsu Chin Kwang for a moment?" "A fried chicken-pot luck dinner was served with the Pastor, Rev. Daniel Hall offering Grace. Seventeen members and guests attended."

Mrs. Jolly, president, conducted the business meeting, and the group voted to allow hostesses select programs. The members also drew names for secret pals. A social hour followed the dinner.

The February meeting will be held at the Church with a covered dish luncheon at noon. Combat aircraft in World War I reached an altitude of some 15,000 feet.

ADVERTISE—IT PAYS

WHITE HALL CLASS DINES AT HOME OF MRS. NUNES

WHITE HALL—The Loyal Daughters Class of the First Christian Church held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Ben Nunes Jan. 13 with Mrs. Pearl Jolly co-hostess.

He considered it. "I don't see why not — if Mr. Hsu doesn't object. Come on."

I went in. The old man was sitting in about the same position as when I'd last seen him. "March hsien," he said in Chinese, "my house is honored by your visit."

"I am most fortunate," I replied in the same language, "to be shown into the presence of Hsu Chin Kwang. I have been in sorrow since learning of your loss last night."

"It is nothing," he said. "No more than 10 pieces, all from the Chen dynasty. They were not my most valuable pieces, although they were pleasing to the eye."

"Were they insured?" "Oh yes. Money will be paid, but the pieces cannot be replaced."

"I know," I said. "It is a great tragedy." "One which the world will survive," he said with humor. "It is only important that I still have my Han Yu, which can return to its origins with me."

"If there is any way in which I can be of assistance," I said, "I will be honored to do so."

"It is I who am honored," he said. "I returned his bow and backed toward the door."

I left, and the Inspector followed me out into the hallway. "Where'd you learn to speak the language like that?" he asked.

"There was a war, remember? Somebody in Washington had the bright idea of sending me to China."

"Did you learn anything from him?" "Nothing that you haven't or won't, I'm sure. Most of our conversation was over which one of us was being honored."

Thirty years ago, the psychic bid and the name Jacoby were almost synonymous. I didn't invent the bid, but I sure used it.

Then I gave it up. There were several reasons for this step, such as the fact that I was getting older, but the one main and important reason was that it cost me points more often than it helped me.

There were a few psychics used in the World Bridge Olympiad last year and I don't think any bids ever achieved as great a record of futility.

Here is a conspicuous example. West's no-trump overcall had all the elements of a psychic. He did not have no-trump distribution. He didn't have anything in South's suit and he didn't have any ace, king or queen.

He also didn't have any real intestinal fortitude because if he had stood by his guns and fought it out at one no-trump, he would have only been down six for a mere 1,100 point loss.

Instead, he started to escape with his redouble, whereupon North and South proceeded happily to six no-trump.

This was too much for East. He did hold an ace and queen and he felt that his partner probably had some sort of a trick somewhere among his bunch of nothing. After all, his partner had gone into action when no one was holding a gun to his head to make him bid.

East doubled. No one redoubled which was just as well because the slam was a lay down. North and South scored 1,680 instead of the 1,440 for an undoubted slam.

It has a bateau neckline and small wing-capped sleeves. A bias front panel set into the bodice features a slightly raised waistline in the back. The matching jonquil yellow coat is fully gored and falls from narrow shoulders to a wider hem. Drifts Block Roads

Wind, with gusts up to 45 miles per hour, caused the four inches of snowfall to drift over many of the east-west highways in the county Friday afternoon and early evening. Snow, which fell at intervals during the day Friday, stopped late that night, and was not expected again Saturday. Winds, which gusted as high as 45 miles per hour Friday, slowed Friday night, gusting from between 25-30 miles per hour. The forecast Saturday predicted winds of the same velocity as the low pressure front moved out of the area to the east. Scott One-Car Accident The weather was partially responsible for one accident reported by state police in Scott county early Friday evening on Ill. 100. State police said that Miss Beatrice Davis, 65, of Bluffs was taken to Passavant hospital for treatment of injuries sustained in a one-car accident at the north city limits of that town about 4:45 p.m. Friday. A hospital spokesman said Miss Davis was admitted as a patient. Investigating troopers reported Miss Davis was the driver of the southbound vehicle. She told police that the car went off the west side of the highway, veered across the road and off the east shoulder and then overturned twice. A passenger in the car, Mrs. Georgianna Davis, 37, also of Bluffs was taken to the hospital where she was treated for minor injuries and later released.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dyson of Chandlerville became the parents of a daughter Monday at Schmitt Memorial hospital, Beardstown.

LINEMAN INJURED
Lloyd E. Price of 773 South Church was injured Monday when he fell from the roof of a house. He is a lineman for the City Light and Power Department. X-rays showed he suffered a broken vertebra in the lower back. He is a patient at Passavant hospital.

Forget the old rules;
you have to learn new ones. Here is . . .

How To Cut Your Own Taxes

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Forget all you learned about income tax last year. Under no circumstances will you use last year's income tax return as a guide for this year. These two sentences sum up the best advice that can be given as we all prepare to file our annual tax return by April 15, 1965. The new tax act passed by Congress in 1964 includes sweeping changes and varied benefits so that the best thing to do is to start to learn all over again.

Rates have been reduced across the board for everyone. The tax rate in the lowest bracket has been reduced from 20 per cent to 16 per cent for 1964. The rate at the top has been trimmed from 91 per cent to 77 per cent. And in 1965 these rates will be further reduced to 14 per cent at the bottom and 70 per cent at the top.

A new Minimum Standard Deduction has been introduced. This will be a break for large families with total incomes less than $10,000. Formerly the taxpayer who didn't itemize his deductions could take a standard deduction of 10 per cent of his gross income. The new Minimum Standard Deduction gives him still another option. Instead of settling on 10 per cent for deductions he may deduct $200 plus an additional $100 for each exemption.

For example, the $7,000-a-year man with four dependent children will be able to deduct $800 on his joint return instead of the $700 allowed a year ago.

Other revisions in the law provide new rules for reporting the income on stock dividends. For the family with modest stock holdings it probably will mean that all of its dividend income will be tax exempt. Those with substantial stock holdings and retired couples may find they will be paying a higher tax than formerly on dividends.

Golden agers were remembered in several instances by the tax law writers. They will find special provisions for them on liberalized retirement income credits, new rules for medical expenses and the once-in-a-lifetime special tax rules they may follow when they sell their personal residence at a substantial profit.

Most of us felt the first benefits of the new tax reductions last March when a smaller bite was taken out of our pay checks for the withholding tax.

Many taxpayers will learn to their regret when they file their annual income tax return that the added take-home pay they started to receive last March was too generous. Many will have to return a part of it now with payment of additional tax when they file their returns.

This situation results because the reduced withholding tax tables are attuned to the lower 1965 rates but were too generous for the 1964 tax rates.

Never before has there been such a need for accuracy in the filing of returns.

With the requirement of supplying your social security number to banks where you have savings accounts, corporations from whom you receive dividends and all employers who pay you wages or salary the federal government has a near-perfect check on virtually all your income.

With its new electronic equipment Internal Revenue agents can feed into a computer all the cards bearing your Social Security number and determine in seconds if all these items of income are reported on your return.

In these articles we will try to point out every possible deduction and tax-saving device for you. You will report everything which must be shown on your return but will take full

Capital For Growth Prime Forum Topic

The ability of farm supply businesses to provide capital to farmers is one key to their survival and growth in the decade ahead.

R. J. Mutti, University of Illinois professor of agricultural marketing, points out that farm supply firms face intense competition for a share of the farm market. And they know that increasing capital is needed to provide adequate facilities, inventories and credit to their customers.

How this capital for growth will be provided will be highlighted in the special sessions for the farm supply industries at the U. of I. Agricultural Industries Forum on February 2-3, Mutti says.

In Fertilizer Business
The present tendency for fertilizer manufacturers to provide capital for local mixing and distribution facilities and credit to farmers will be discussed by K. W. Cross, Tuloma Gas Products division of the American Oil company.

E. J. Dickey, president of a company serving as a capital funds broker, will describe how independent manufacturers and dealers obtain long-term loans of large amounts of money as well as how the borrower qualifies for such loans.

Bank Facilities
Large corporations and the central money market as sources of capital for growth will be discussed by I. F. Green, Commercial Bank of Peoria. Green will explain how commercial banks and their correspondent banks serve farm supply manufacturers, distributors and dealers and their customers, Mutti says.

As background for these discussions, G. K. Bringer, U. of I. agricultural economist, will point out important features of the capital structure of American agriculture and show how it has changed in the past decade.

Because of an unavoidable change, Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois, who was to speak on February 3, has been rescheduled to speak at a luncheon meeting Tuesday, February 2.

"I have this one kid back there," said Willie. "who's 17 years old he's in junior high school and he's been in jail four or five times, just finished a stretch for housebreaking. The kid basically isn't a bad guy. He just got tied up with some bad influences."

The Roving Leaders, as explained by Willie, is an organization set up by the President's Committee on School Dropouts and functions in the Washington, D.C., Recreation Department.

"The guy on the streets doesn't know who we are," admitted Willie. "His first opinion is that we're cops. So we organize the gang meetings and try to get them involved in constructive activity, whether a dance or an athletic event."

DIRECTOR

DENVER (AP) — Fred Coker, 46, a former football, track and swimming star at the University of Utah, was appointed director of player personnel for the Denver Broncos of The American Football League Friday.

Phil Dickens was removed as Indiana coach recently.

Pont flew into Indianapolis in a snowstorm and was driven to Bloomington by Indiana's athletic director, Bill Orwig.

At the airport, Pont said, "I am definitely leaning towards the Indiana coaching job."

He added that Kingman Brewster, Yale's president, had asked him not to do anything definite until Yale officials could confer.

Winchester Tournament Next Week

WINCHESTER — North Greene has been seeded first in the 43rd annual Winchester Tournament, one of the most popular tournaments in the area.

The nine-team affair starts Tuesday and runs through to the finals Friday night.

Following the twice-beaten Spartans in the rankings are Carrollton, Winchester and Franklin. The bottom five consist of Waverly, fifth, Brown County, 6th, Greenfield, 7th, Griggsville eighth and East Pike 9th.

Games Tuesday pit Griggsville vs. East Pike at 6 p.m., North Greene against Waverly at 7:15 and host Winchester vs. Greenfield at 8:30. Wednesday night action finds Carrollton and Brown County meeting at 7 and Franklin facing the winner of the Griggsville-East Pike game at 8:30.

The semi-finals will be staged Thursday evening and the finals Friday night.

Franklin Chalks Up 63-51 Margin

FRANKLIN — Franklin continued its winning ways here Friday night, defeating Waverly 63-51, in a tilt which is not counted on the MSM conference standings.

The Flashes now own an impressive 10-2 overall season slate, and lead the MSM conference ranks with an unblemished 6-0 record.

Waverly in the loss, now holds onto an even 5-5 overall record, and a 3-1 reading in MSM activity.

The victorious Flashes clipped along at a respectable 50% field goal rate, and hit 17 of 27 free throw attempts for a 63% mark in that department.

Waverly shot an ice cold 25% of their field goal attempts in the first half, but then warmed up a bit in the second half, with a 37% average. The Scoties hit 13 of their 21 attempts from the charity stripe, for a 62% mark.

Center Bill "Whes of Franklin led his pack with a frame high total of 18 points, while teammates Bill Gordon, Dana Caldwell, and Chuck Ebrey all totaled in the double figures to assist in the win.

In the rebounding department, Forbes led the Flashes with 11, while Caldwell and Ebrey assisted along with 10 each.

It was a scrappy ball game, as the determined Waverly flew into a full court press midway through the second frame, and continued it on through the remainder of the contest.

Caldwell hit eight of his 15 total tallies in the first quarter to put Franklin out in front from the start.

The Scoties hit 10 of their 11 free throw attempts, to stick close in the second frame.

Forbes netted 15 of his game high total of 18 in the second and third quarters to keep the Franklin winning margin alive.

The final period saw Franklin edge their foes by two points 14-10 to ice the win.

CUBS SIGN TWO MORE
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs continued their speedy signing of players for the 1965 baseball season Friday as infielders Joe Amalfitano and Mack Kuykendall came to terms.

The Cubs now have 25 of their listed 37 players under contract.

Amalfitano, a spirited second baseman, batted .241 in 100 Cub games last season.

John Werries threw in 21 points and Roger Bursus 17 for the winners, while Gary McGaskill's 12 led the losers.

5 Players Hit Double Figures In Rocket Edge

RUSHVILLE — Five men in double figures gave Rushville a balanced scoring front and a 63-50 Spoon River conquest over Macomb here Friday evening. The Rockets had little trouble from the start, jumping to a 23-12 first-period difference, faltering slightly at halftime then hanging on for the decision.

The balanced attack was led by Mick Lunt and Jim Shells with 14 each. Terry Coker took game honors for the losing Bombers with 23.

Rushville is now 10-4 on the year and 3-2 in the conference.

AFL's Proposal For Joint Meet Rebuffed By NFL

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League's proposal for a joint meeting with the National Football League and the National Collegiate Athletic Association on premature signings of college players was rebuffed Friday by the NFL.

Commissioner Joe Foss had announced at the AFL meetings that his league would make no commitments on an NCAA recommendation on pro-college relations until all parties concerned had a joint meeting.

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle said in New York "the National Football League already has taken unconditional action regarding premature signing of college players and we feel we already have worked out our problem no matter what others may do."

The NFL announced Tuesday it would sign no college player until the player's team had completed its schedule, including post-season bowl games.

The common Indian cobra, which averages 5 1/2 feet in length, is responsible for several thousand deaths annually due to its deadly venom, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Michigan Girl Picked For Team

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — An attractive Ann Arbor High School senior who "has always liked to run" is Michigan's lone representative on the 1964 girls AAU All-America track and field team.

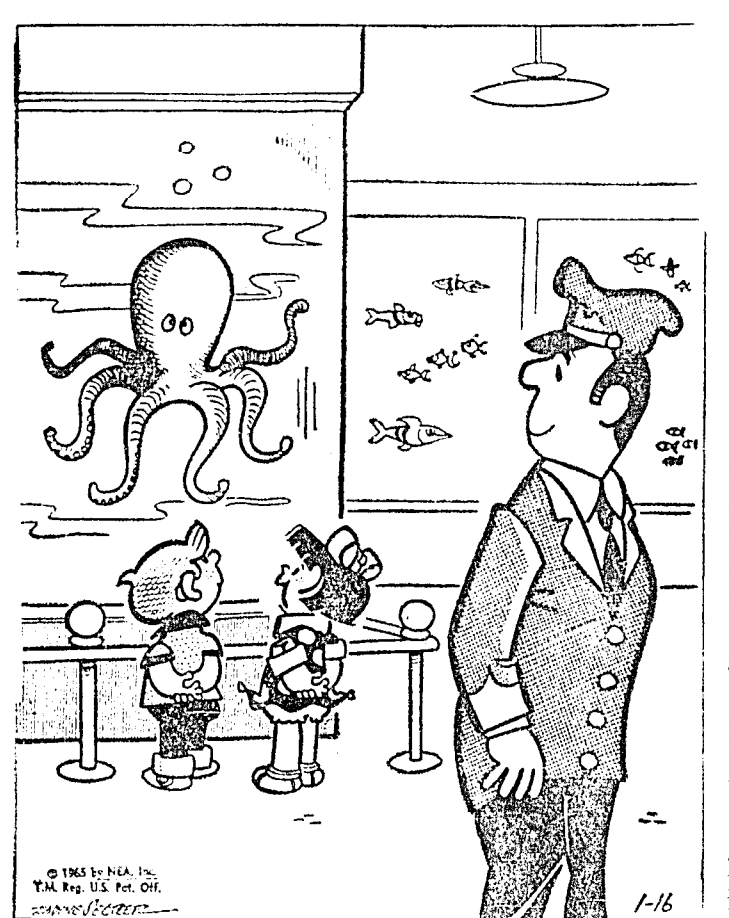

In fact, Francie Kraker is the only girl from the northeast quarter of the country on the squad. Nine girls from California and another from Louisiana also were named.

Francie, 17, was named to the team in the 880-yard run — an event she felt she couldn't run. Ken Simmons, coach of the Ann Arbor Track Club, said when he first told the trim runner she was going to be a half-miler she said, "I can't run that far."

The final heat in the race was only the eighth time she had run the event.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"Get your briefcase and join me in the park for lunch."

The busy daily schedule calls for a simple hairdo a woman can manage between long visits to the hairdresser. Much can be done with a basic hair length and one or two postiches or hairpieces. For the office or home start with a casual arrangement. Comb hair straight back (left) and catch it with a colorful band. For very special entertaining at home, draw side hair up into a small bun (right) and encircle this with a plait of false hair. Flip back hair up and comb bangs on the diagonal across the forehead. Another evening hair treat (inset) starts with bangs. Pile crown hair in a shining dome and add a French twist at the back of the head. Over the joining point, pin a puffed and rounded hairpiece. Use tail of comb to lift the top section.

Africans Look Ahead To Unity Without Domination Of Whites

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The black African seems to be telling the white man: "Get out — but please don't go."

In a continent so vast, so diverse, made up of so many nations, languages and cultures, all generalizations are dangerous. But conversations with African leaders indicate it is safe to make a few:

— There is an ambivalent attitude toward Europeans and Americans. Many African leaders say privately they want and need cooperation from the white world. Some — again in private — frankly criticized African vilification of the West after the rescue of hostages from the Congolese rebels. Publicly, however, those who deplored the vituperation preferred to remain silent.

— There is bewilderment among some Africans at being thrust suddenly onto the world stage, blinded by a limelight to which they are unaccustomed; befuddled at sudden enormous problems confronting new countries.

— There is resentment at the idea that Africans are incapable of managing themselves, at the idea that ignorance and illiteracy preclude self-management.

The slogan of "African unity" is mostly an empty one.

Little Prospect of Unity
There is little prospect of unity. Africa is many different nations wrapped up in one huge continent, with innumerable languages. Sub-Saharan Africa has ancient, local tribal customs which set one group apart from another. The tribal makeup affects the problems of new nations which retain paternalistic traditions and lean naturally toward one-man rule.

— There are frustrations for intellectuals from whose thin ranks the leaders must come. The frustrations seem to feed an inferiority complex impelling some to bristle even at a question which, however carefully phrased, implies African shortcomings.

A substantial number of Africans, say their representatives, want to remain on good terms with Europe and the United States. They may want the white man to get out, in the sense that he should have no rights to influence policies or interfere in African affairs. But they want him to stay in Africa with his know-how and his technology, to guide them toward viability.

African intellectuals refer time and again to events in Mississippi.

"Americans have friends," said one diplomat, "but their friends are embarrassed. When bullets are fired at people trying to rebuild a burned church in Mississippi, is that any more excusable than the killing of missionaries in the Congo? I was ashamed of the Congo killing, and no sane African approved it, but can you talk

PLEASANT HILL NIPS TIGERS 81-52

GREENFIELD — The Pleasant Hill Wolves utilized some superior rebounding by center Randy Hubbard and forward Keith Johnston here Friday night, to pile up an 81-52 Illinois Valley conference win, their second of the season, over the Greenfield Tigers.

In the win, Pleasant Hill rests on an unblemished 2-0 IVC record, and holds an impressive 10-2 overall season reading.

The losing Tigers have yet to triumph in an IVC contest, having lost three straight in conference play, and sit atop a 3-7 overall record.

It was Pleasant Hill's ball game all the way, as the Panthers coasted into the midway mark in possession of a 37-19 halftime lead.

In the third frame, the Tigers were held to a mere ten points, as Pleasant Hill racked up a 21 tallie third period total.

Fourth quarter action saw Greenfield match the 23 points of their opponents, but it was far short of the red hot Panthers.
